China in Transformation.

By A. R. COLQUHOUN.

(Revised and enlarged edition.)

Crown 8vo. Coloured Map, &c. 5s. net; post free, 5s. 4d.

This standard work by the eminent authority upon China is here brought thoroughly up to date, and several important new chapters have been added in the light of latest developments. At the present time, when so much that is happening in China needs elucidation for Western readers, there is great need for this handy and authoritative work. Mr. Colquhoun's style is both lucid and attractive.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA:

ITS MINES AND FARMING LANDS.

VARIETY OF INDUSTRIES. FRUIT AND WHEAT GROWING.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR INVESTMENT.

THE great State of Western Australia, comprising nearly a million square miles of country, offers at the present time an attractive field to investors large and small and to agricultural immigrants of all descriptions. In the South-Western Division, where development is being concentrated just now, a number of industries are successfully carried on, and are rapidly expanding, while large areas still await settlement and cultivation. In the wide areas east of the Darling Range, Wheat-growing, combined with sheep farming and mixed farming generally, is now conducted with excellent results, the yield of wheat having risen from 956,886 bushels in the season ended February 1902, to 5,897,540 bushels in 1911. In the same division, but more to the west and south, there are vast forests of timber, which have provided the opportunity for an extensive industry in the sawing and preparation and export of hardwoods that are used for commercial purposes in various parts of the world. The timber export in 1910 was valued at £972,698, compared with £867,419 in the previous year, and with £511,923 in 1907.

There is also a growing fruit industry in the Darling Ranges and in other parts of the South-West to the ultimate extension of which it would be difficult to set limits. It is expected that 60,000 cases of fruit will be exported this year, as contrasted with 28,000 in the previous year, while about 20,000 acres of land are now under orchards and vineyards, and the area planted is increasing at the rate of 2,000 acres per annum.

Wool-growing and sheep-raising are carried on both in the South-West and the North-West, and in the season 1910-11 the number of sheep in the State increased from 4,731,737 to 5,158,516; while in the same period the number of cattle, largely in the far North but now advancing also in the South, from 793,217 to 825,000. The export of wool in 1910-11 reached a value of £1,047,456.

Close cultivation of root and fodder crops is also carried out successfully in the wetter portions of the South-West.

But besides the farming avocations, which are now being extended rapidly, there is the Mining industry in the East and North-West, which has gained the greatest fame for Western Australia. Gold alone, since the year 1886, has been produced to the value of over 103 millions sterling, and more than 22 millions has been paid in dividends by mining companies.

As the development of highly specialised machinery for the recovery of gold proceeds and railways are extended, it is to be believed that further opportunities for investment in this great industry will be presented, especially in the many low-grade propositions which are now only awaiting capital for their development.

Western Australia also produces many of the baser metals, such as Copper, Tin, Tantalite, Lead, &c., while the production of a sound coal is annually rising, and a successful bunkering trade with ocean-going vessels has been opened up.

For its Pearl fisheries in the North-West, the State has long been famous, and the value of the export of pearls and shell in 1910 was £348,911.

The industries hitherto mentioned are already on a sound basis, and while many of them will expand and continuously afford openings for the employment of capital and labour, perhaps the most attractive opportunities are now presented for investment in secondary avocations arising out of the rapid growth of the primary pursuits. A striking example is that of the wool industry, in connection with which it should prove profitable to start mills, as has been done successfully in the Eastern States, for the manufacture of clothing. At the present time, over a million pounds' worth of "Apparel and Textiles" are imported into the State every year, and with the large annual increase of wool production already referred to, there should be wide opportunities for making woollen goods within the State.

The extension of Wheat-growing opens up a field for a number of secondary industries and trades. Already Messrs. Cuming, Smith & Co. and the Mount Lyell Mining Company, two large Eastern firms, have established works for the manufacture of Superphosphates, the principal fertiliser used by the Western Australian farmers, within the State, and that the demand for fertilisers is quickly rising the following figures of imports demonstrate:—In 1906, 13,511 tons of fertilisers were imported into the State; in 1907, 12,182 tons; in 1908, 20,351 tons; 1909, 21,065 tons; 1910, 34,722 tons. It is probable that the trade in this commodity will so increase as to justify the establishment of other works of a similar character to those already in existence.

But this is not the only secondary industry which is likely to be established as a result of the spread of Wheat cultivation. In Western Australia, as in the other Australian States, Wheat-growing is carried out with the aid of highly-specialised machinery, and little of this is at the present time manufactured within the State. For the nine months ended September 30 last, agricultural and horticultural implements to the value of £91,026 were imported from other parts of the Commonwealth, and £47,762 worth from overseas. There is no reason why a large part of this machinery should not be made in Western Australia. The Government specially encourages local manufacture, and has provided in the Agricultural Bank Act that sums to the amount of £100 in each instance may be advanced to settlers, on approved blocks, for the "purchase of agricultural machinery manufactured in Western Australia," while an amendment is now proposed for the increase, in approved cases, of the amount so advanced. This manufacture also enjoys the benefit of the Commonwealth protective tariff against overseas competition.

The rise of such trades and industries on the spot is inevitable with the development of primary production, and the investor who enters the field now will have a great advantage over those who come in later.

In connection with Fruit-growing, there are two distinct avenues open for the employment of capital. There is first the production of the fruit itself. A very wide area of country in the South-West, comprising altogether many millions of acres, is suitable for the production of fruit, among other uses to which it may be put. Apples, grapes, pears, oranges, cherries and nearly every variety of fruit raised in the temperate zones may be grown at their best in Western Australia, and already Western Australian apples and grapes are obtaining consistently the highest prices in Covent Garden Market. Western Australian fruit has also sold well on the Continent, and it is likely that a trade will be opened up shortly with India, a sample shipment having been very favourably received in various Indian centres. For men with a moderate amount of capital there is an excellent opportunity for investment in this direction.

The second field for the employment of capital in connection with the fruit industry is in the manufacture of jams, preserves, &c., and in the secondary treatment of fruit generally. At the present time, the State imports jams, jellies, &c., to the annual value of £150,000, or over 10s. a head of the population.

So far as the occupation of land for cultivation is concerned, the terms offered by the Government are perhaps the most liberal in the world, and as there are vast areas still to be settled, the outlook before both primary and secondary industries is exceedingly bright. It would, indeed, be difficult to rival in any State in a similar stage of development the opportunities afforded for the remunerative employment of capital and labour that are now presented by Western Australia. Endowed by nature with a mild and benign climate, the State of Western Australia, especially in the fertile and well-watered South-West, is providing and will provide thousands of happy homes for British people who are building up a new and brighter Britain beyond the Seas.

Calgary.—The most prosperous town in Southern Alberta, is called the city of the foot-hills, owing to its proximity to the Rockies. Here is the great 3,000,000-acre irrigation scheme of the Canadian Pacific. Land on this irrigation block is sold to settlers on the instalment system. Calgary is directly connected by rail with Edmonton, the capital of the North-West, which is also directly connected with Winnipeg via Saskatoon and Wesaskiwin.

Banff.—The tourist capital of the Canadian Rockies, with its splendid Banff Hot Springs Hotel. Here is the Canadian National Park, with its herds of buffaloes.

Laggan.—Is the station for Lake Louise, considered by many to be the loveliest spot in Canada. The Château Hotel is the most convenient point from which to visit the Lakes in the Clouds, and is a favourite centre for Alpine climbers.

Field.—In the Kicking Horse Pass, has another favourite hotel, and is the best point from which to reach Emerald Lake and the magnificent Yoho Valley and the Takakkaw Falls, 1,200 feet in height.

Golden.—For the Columbia Valley and Lake Windermere, the new tourist playground.

Glacier.—Is reached after passing through the tremendous scenery of the Rogers Pass, and is in the Selkirk Mountains. It lies under Mount Sir Donald, and is in full view of the snowy Hermit Ranges.

Revelstoke.—Is the junction for the Arrowhead Lakes, down which one may take steamer for the mining and fruit-growing districts of Southern British Columbia and the Kootenays. These can also be reached by the Crow's Nest Pass.

Sicamous.—Is the junction for the fertile Okanagan Valley, the centre of a fruit-growing district.

Kamloops.—Is also rich in orchards.

Vancouver.—Is the Pacific terminus of the Railway, and is rapidly becoming the chief port on the Pacific coast. Here, again, is a fine hotel belonging to the railway company. Steamers connect with Vancouver Island and especially Victoria.—The political capital of British Columbia, and one of the most delightful tourist centres in America. The Empress Hotel here spells the last word in luxury. Through Vancouver Island runs the Esquimalt and Nanaimo Railway from Victoria to Alberni.

QUEBEC

THE MOST PROSPEROUS PROVINCE OF

CANADA

Offers unrivalled opportunities for the profitable employment of capital.

Its huge forests contain pulp wood and other commercial essences in almost inexhaustible quantities.

Its numerous traction systems and thousands of industries want all the electricity which can be produced from its water-powers—only a small proportion of which are at present under exploitation.

Its rich asbestos, iron, and copper mines already form a great and profitable industry, although but a small proportion of the mineral wealth of the Province has been tapped.

Its dairying industry is exceptionally prosperous. The cheese of Quebec commands the highest prices. This is due to ideal grazing conditions brought about by its rich pastures and abundance of pure water.

To render easier and more economical the interchange and distribution of commodities, and promote the prosperity of industry and commerce, the Quebec Government has entered upon a vigorous policy of

and will spend for that purpose, as rapidly as men, materials, and machinery can be obtained for building these roads,

TEN MILLION DOLLARS,

which will provide 3,300 miles of perfect roads within the limits of the Province.

The finances of the Province of Quebec are on a sound basis. Every financial year shows a substantial surplus, which has enabled the Government, after providing amply for education and all the public services, to reduce the public debt, during the last five years, from a record which is unique in Canada!

SEVEN MILLIONS TO FOUR AND A HALF MILLION POUNDS,

If you contemplate investing capital in Canada, you would therefore do well to investigate the opportunities offered by Quebec.

The C.N.R. issue money orders which can be purchased before embarkation at any of the Company's offices, payable anywhere in Canada or the United States.

Officers of the C.N.R. Emigration Department meet our Conducted Parties at the port of landing. Passengers are accompanied to the trains and safeguarded in every way.

The interests of our large Conducted Parties bound for Toronto or the West are looked after by conductors on the train as well as on the steamer.

Conducted Parties to Saskatchewan, Alberta, and British Columbia have the benefit of unique arrangements which are quite beyond the reach of the ordinary immigrant. FAÇADE

ROYAL COLONIAL INSTITUTE, NORTHUMBERLAND AVENUE

II.—INTRODUCTION.

MORE than a generation has now passed since, in 1868, the Colonial Society was started. The Dominion of Canada had just come into being; and, though not many openly agreed with John Bright that the continuance of the British connection was burdensome to Great Britain and humiliating to Canada, still there was a widely spread undercurrent of feeling that Canadian Confederation was a half-way house to peaceful separation. It was this kind of temper, more dangerous than open hostility, that the Colonial Institute sought to counteract. Most wisely its founders recognised that the best way of going to work was not to set on foot an actively militant political organisation. What was wanted was knowledge; knowledge in England of the boundless resources and true temper of the Overseas Dominions; knowledge in the Colonies of their English kinsfolk, when once one has penetrated the outer crust. The Royal Colonial Institute (as it was named in 1870) became at once a club-house where persons from all parts of the Empire might exchange experiences, and an information bureau, whence the latest and most authoritative facts with regard to the Empire might be brought to the light of day. Starting with the modest number of one hundred and seventy-four members, the Institution so fully justified its existence that by 1880 it had over eleven hundred members. The great danger of such an organisation was that it should be run by men who disapproved of the action of their Colonial Governments, and were out of touch with Colonial public opinion; the Royal Colonial Institute has been careful to draw new blood into its veins, and has never in any way identified itself with any one school of thought regarding Colonial questions. The Papers read in its winter sessions have been a perfect quarry of first-hand knowledge, freely placed at the disposal of the inquirer, whether his purpose be historical, statistical or practical.

But it may be asked, now that the Royal Colonial Institute has achieved such success in promoting fuller knowledge, and, on both sides, a very different temper—especially now that its example has been followed by so many Leagues and Societies, has not the time come when, so far as its original purpose was concerned, it might pronounce its nunc dimittis and leave to younger bodies the burden of the fray? But it must be remembered that, especially in new countries, the condition of things is always rapidly changing, so that the truth of last year is the falsehood to-day, and any record of facts and opinions requires constant modification and revision. But what institution could so efficiently carry on this work, as the Institute, which in the past has done it so successfully? Moreover, while the general tone of thought regarding Imperial questions is, on both sides, most satisfactory, and there is everywhere the desire to promote friendly social intercourse, there are still problems connected with the Empire, in the solution of which the Royal Colonial Institute can give a helping hand. It is a melancholy fact that, in spite of mutual goodwill and Colonial preferences, British trade within the Empire does not grow by leaps and bounds. The Royal Colonial Institute has recently set on foot an Empire Trade and Industry Committee. Its objects are to encourage such trade and industry by arranging for the delivery of addresses on financial, industrial and trade subjects by authorities before the Institute itself and before Chambers of Commerce, trade bodies and like institutions in the leading industrial centres. There is the further object of facilitating, encouraging and arranging industrial conferences or meetings to be attended by men of affairs from any or all parts of the Empire, in order to discuss questions of common interest with a view to regulating and co-ordinating the conditions of Empire trade and industry.

The new departure is of too recent date to expect, as yet, practical results, but it is manifest what a sphere of usefulness is here opened out, and how well adapted the Royal Colonial Institute is, by its situation and membership, to take the lead in such a movement.

Again, there is the difficult subject of emigration. To a great extent indeed this question has been settling itself. Thus it is very striking how in recent years, without State action, the current of general British emigration has been diverted from the United States to the Overseas Dominions. At the same time there are many ways in which State action might be desirable. The Royal Colonial Institute has now a standing Emigration Committee representing both its own members and the leading emigration societies. This committee has recommended that an official committee shall be constituted consisting of representatives of the private emigration societies and of experts, including a chairman, nominated by the Government. This committee shall—

- (a) Advise on all general questions of policy affecting emigration.
- (b) Co-ordinate the emigration societies of the United Kingdom.
- (c) Take over the functions of the Emigrants' Information Office.
- (d) Deal with Labour Exchanges, Boards of Guardians, &c., on all matters connected with emigration.
- (e) Deal with the High Commissioners, &c., in regard to questions of emigration.

Again, on the question of the emigration of women and of children the committee has made recommendations of far-reaching importance. This is not the place to discuss the details of their proposals; all that we are concerned with here is the vigour and vitality of the parent institution of which they are the testimony and proof.

Yet another new departure must be mentioned. Recognising that in these days of democracy the task of consolidating the Empire can no longer safely be left in the hands of the upper and middle classes, the Royal Colonial Institute is now seeking, by means of popular illustrated lectures, to bring home to the knowledge and the conscience of the people the resources of the Empire and the opportunities and responsibilities attending on its right use and development. This work has only recently been begun; but it promises, if properly supported by the leading men in the great centres of population, to yield most valuable results.

But while the Royal Colonial Institute has been busily at work extending its activities in a practical direction, it has not forgotten its other function of being a store-house of knowledge. Some of us can speak with personal knowledge and gratitude of the benefit its admirable library has been in the pursuit of our studies. Nearly 90,000 volumes and pamphlets, not one of which does not relate to the objects of the Institute, are a boon, the value of which it is impossible to exaggerate; especially when they can be consulted under the guidance of a courteous and helpful librarian. A special room has been set apart as a law library, which contains some 8000 volumes and statutes, law reports, treaties, &c. In the law library provision is also made for the storage and display of maps relating to all parts of the Empire. To give an idea of the Institute's resources it may be added that during the year 1910-11, 54,107 newspapers and magazines were received and filed. Considering the benefits of membership it is not astonishing to learn that the Royal Colonial Institute has now nearly 6,000 Fellows, and that its growing importance, the widening of its scope and the increase of its membership have necessitated a great extension of its premises. The house in Northumberland Avenue has been almost entirely rebuilt on a larger area, and "as a result," we are told, "instead of the seven inconveniently small and inappropriate rooms formerly available, there are now twenty-five well-equipped rooms."

These things do not indeed go to the heart of the matter. It is possible for great things to proceed from mean and stuffy surroundings, and a sumptuous club-house does not always produce an active spirit; but when, as has been made manifest, the spirit is in the right place, it is surely well that the accessories of comfort and convenience shall be added.

There is one other subject, without mention of which any account of the Royal Colonial Institute would be deficient. Useful as had been the annual volume with its permanent record of the progress made during the year, it was generally recognised that so influential a corporation should possess its own monthly organ, reflecting the various sides of its work. An editor was forthcoming who had both a practical knowledge of the Empire and was a trained littérateur. UNITED EMPIRE is still in its first youth; but already it has attained a wide circulation, and few will question the modest claim put forward in the Council's first Annual Report that it "has from month to month enabled those interested in the various Overseas Dominions to keep in touch with the more important aspects of Imperial development." Such, then, being the various grounds on which the Royal Colonial Institute has more than made good the aims of its founders, there is no one who cares for the Empire and the Empire's well-being who will not gratefully repeat "Esto perpetua."

III.—HISTORICAL SKETCH.

THE ROYAL COLONIAL INSTITUTE is first and foremost a non-sectarian and non-political organisation which exists for the purpose of stimulating the loyalty of all Britons towards the Empire, using that term to mean the United Kingdom with the Great Dominions and the Smallest Dependencies beyond the Seas. To foster the love of Oversea Britons for the Motherland and to cultivate in the breasts of residents of the Self-Governing Dominions, Colonies, and India the feeling that neither the accident of birth overseas, nor the fact that a wider sphere has been chosen by a Briton born in the United Kingdom can in any way affect his British citizenship so long as his home is still under the British Flag, is the great mission of the Institute.

The existence of the Royal Colonial Institute practically dates from June 26, 1868, when a meeting was held at Willis's Rooms, under the presidency of Viscount Bury, to promote the formation of a society which should assume, in relation to the Colonies, a position similar to that filled by the Royal Society as regards science, and the Royal Geographical Society as regards geography. The meeting, which comprised influential representatives of colonial interests, and members of the Imperial Legislature who had taken a prominent part in the discussion of colonial questions, unanimously agreed that it was desirable to establish an institution, above all mere party considerations, where persons from all parts of the British Empire might exchange experiences, and where trustworthy information might be imparted to all inquirers. A provisional committee was appointed, which drew up rules—substantially the same as those now in operation—and reported to a general meeting on August 12, 1868, when the “Colonial Society” became constituted by the adoption of such rules for its government and the election of the first President and Council.

A deputation of the Council waited upon His Grace the Duke of Buckingham and Chandos, Secretary of State for the Colonies, and the Right Hon. Sir Stafford Northcote, Secretary of State for India, with the object of obtaining their official sanction and support, which was most readily conceded. Those Ministers undertook that the Governors of the several Colonies should be addressed in favour of the Institute, which undertaking was carried into effect by their successors in office, the Right Hon. Earl Granville and His Grace the Duke of Argyll. As a result of this action, a large number of valuable works illustrative of the resources and progress of the Oversea Dominions, Colonies, and India have been added to the library. Numerous contributions have also been received from the Colonial Office and the India Office, and for some years past full particulars of the constitution and objects of the Institute have been published in the Colonial Office List, “on account of the importance of the subject to Colonists generally.” The Institute is now officially included in the list of Institutions named in the Colonial Regulations, so that the whole of the Statutes of various parts of the Empire are regularly received.

On March 10, 1869, the inaugural dinner was attended by the Prime Minister (the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, M.P.), the Secretary of State for the Colonies (the Right Hon. Earl Granville), and many other distinguished guests, and was regarded as a most successful demonstration in favour of the Colonies and the Unity of the Empire.

The speeches at this banquet are of singular interest to-day. Mr. Gladstone’s reminiscences of the “Colonial Department,” in which he had served thirty-four years previously; Sir George Cartier’s attempt to explain Canadian Nationalism without wounding the susceptibilities of prejudiced Britons and his challenge to the United States as to the freedom of Canada under representative rather than democratic institutions; the reminder of Mr. Hugh C. E. Childers that sea-power and the Colonies are intimately connected, and that the sea is the connecting link and not a barrier between the sons of a sea-going race—all these long-forgotten speeches will repay the attention of the historical student who cares to trace the great dynamic forces of the century to their origin.

In June 1869 the prefix of the word “Royal” was graciously sanctioned by Her Majesty the Queen. Inconvenience arising from the similarity of the initial letters to those of the Royal College of Surgeons, the name of the Society was, by the vote of a general meeting on March 7, 1870, changed to the Royal Colonial Institute.

In July 1871 His Grace the Duke of Manchester was elected President, in succession to Viscount Bury, who retired, and in June 1878 His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales was pleased to accept that office, afterwards becoming Patron as King Edward the Seventh, the Duke of Manchester maintaining his connection with the Institute as one of its Vice-Presidents and Chairman of the Council up to the time of his death in 1890, when the office of Chairman of the Council was abolished. On his accession to the throne in 1910, His Majesty the King became Patron, and he was succeeded in the office of President by Field-Marshal H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught. During the year 1909, in view of the great extension of the work of the Institute, it was decided to revive the office of Chairman of the Council, and Lieut.-General Sir J. Bevan Edwards, K.C.M.G., C.B., was unanimously elected to that office.

In September 1882 Her Majesty the Queen granted to the Institute a Royal Charter of Incorporation, with perpetual succession and a common seal, in recognition of the fact that since its establishment it had "sedulously pursued the objects for which it was founded," and with a desire of "encouraging a design so laudable and salutary."

The national importance of imparting to the rising generation a fuller and more accurate knowledge of the British Dominions and their resources has, from its foundation engaged the attention of the Institute, and every opportunity has been taken to urge upon educational authorities and other public bodies the need of giving greater prominence to the subject in the schools of the United Kingdom. As long ago as the year 1882 the Institute offered prizes for the best essays or papers on subjects connected with the British Dominions overseas.

The Institute has never ceased to emphasise the fact that the Overseas Dominions afford a national outlet for the surplus population and capital of the Mother Country, and committees now deal with the questions of emigration and Empire trade and industry, their special functions being set forth in a separate section of this work. The education of the people of the Motherland as to the resources, trade, history and development of the Empire has been taken in hand by a special committee, and lectures are now being given in various parts of the United Kingdom with excellent results. In accordance with the objects for which the Institute was founded, it has for the past forty-four years taken a leading part in the national work of fostering and popularising the great principle of Imperial Solidarity throughout the length and breadth of the British Empire.

RULES.

Corrected up to the 5th March, 1912.

OBJECTS AND CONSTITUTION.

1. THE ROYAL COLONIAL INSTITUTE is established to provide a place of meeting for all gentlemen connected with the Colonies and British India, and others taking an interest in Colonial and Indian affairs; to establish a Reading-room and a Library, in which recent and authentic intelligence upon Colonial and Indian subjects may be constantly available, and a Museum for the collection and exhibition of Colonial and Indian productions; to facilitate interchange of experiences amongst persons representing all the Dependencies of Great Britain; to afford opportunities for the reading of Papers, and for holding discussions upon Colonial and Indian subjects generally; and to undertake scientific, literary, and statistical investigations in connection with the British Empire. But no Paper shall be read, nor any discussion be permitted to take place, tending to give to the Institute a party character.

2. The Institute consists of Resident, Non-Resident, and Honorary Fellows. Ladies may also be admitted to the enjoyment of certain privileges connected with the Institute and its property, but not to corporate membership. They shall be called Associates. An Associate shall be entitled to receive a copy of the Monthly Journal of the Institute, to attend any Meeting held for the reading of Papers or any Annual Provincial Conference of the Institute, and to attend the Annual Conversazione. A Resident Fellow is a Fellow who has his permanent home in the United Kingdom. A Non-Resident Fellow is a Fellow who has his permanent home outside the United Kingdom.

3. The Institute shall not make or distribute any gift, dividend, division, or bonus, in money, unto or between any of its Fellows.

4. The government of the Institute, and the management of all its concerns, are entrusted to the Council, subject to the Rules of the Institute.

5. Every Resident Fellow shall be eligible to fill any of the offices of the Council. Non-Resident Fellows shall, subject to the provisions of the Rules, be eligible to fill the office of Vice-President.

6. The Council shall be chosen from the Fellows, and shall consist of a President, Vice-Presidents, of whom not more than one-third may be selected from Non-Resident Fellows, twenty-four Councillors, a Treasurer, and a Secretary (when honorary). The Council shall have power to fill up any vacancies occurring in the above offices during the interval between the Annual Meetings ; such ad interim appointments to be subject to confirmation at the next succeeding Annual Meeting.

7. A portion of the Council shall retire periodically, viz. the President every second year, and one-fourth, or the nearest number thereto and not exceeding the same, of the Vice-Presidents, and one-eighth, or the nearest number thereto and not exceeding the same, of the Councillors every year in rotation ; the names of those so retiring to be previously announced by the Council, as hereinafter provided. The President and Vice-Presidents so retiring shall be eligible for re-election, but the retiring Councillors shall not be eligible for re-election till one year shall have elapsed.

8. The Vice-Presidents and the Councillors to retire in any year shall be those who have been longest in office. As between two and more who have been in office an equal length of time, the Vice-President or Councillor, as the case may be, to retire, shall be determined by lot. The length of time a Vice-President or Councillor has been in office shall be computed from his last election. In the case of Non-Resident Vice-Presidents, the Council may, if they think it advantageous or desirable, exempt any such Non-Resident Vice-Presidents from such retirement by rotation, but this shall not affect the total number of retirements during any one year.

9. If any Councillor shall fail to attend the Meetings of the Council for six consecutive calendar months, except by leave of the Council, the office of such Councillor shall thereupon become vacant.

ADMISSION, &c., OF FELLOWS.

10. Every gentleman, being a British subject, desirous of admission into the Institute as a Fellow, and every lady, being a British subject, desirous of admission to the privileges of an Associate, must be proposed and recommended according to the Form No. 1 in the Appendix hereto ; and such recommendation must be subscribed by two Fellows at least, one of whom must certify his personal knowledge and approval of such candidate.

11. The certificate thus filled up shall be delivered to the Secretary, and shall be exhibited in a conspicuous place in the Rooms of the Institute for at least one week previous to election, in order that any Fellow objecting to the Candidate may communicate with the Council thereon.

12. The election of Fellows and Associates is entrusted to the Council, and the names of those so elected shall be regularly announced from the chair at each Ordinary Meeting.

13. Notice of Election shall be sent within three days to every newly elected Fellow or Associate, together with a copy of the Rules of the Institute and a List of the Fellows and Associates. But no election of a Fellow or Associate shall be complete, neither shall the name of any person so elected be printed in any list of the Institute, nor shall he or she be entitled to exercise any of the privileges of a Fellow or Associate, as the case may be, until he or she shall have paid his or her first year's subscription, in the case of a Fellow also his admission fee, or in the case of a Fellow have compounded for the same as hereinafter provided for ; and unless these payments be made within three calendar months from the date of election, such election shall be void ; this time may, however, be extended at the discretion of the Council.

14. Gentlemen resident in the Colonies or India, or elsewhere out of the United Kingdom, being British subjects, may be elected as Non-Resident Fellows in the same manner as Resident Fellows. Should any such Non-Resident Fellow come to the United Kingdom permanently to reside, he shall be required to pay an admission fee of Three Pounds (less the sum, if any, paid by him as an admission fee on election as a Non-Resident Fellow), and become a Resident Fellow of the Institute.

15. The Council shall have the power of appointing as Honorary Fellows, Foreigners or Colonists of distinction, or other persons, whose association with the Institute may be considered advantageous; but such Honorary Fellows shall not be entitled to vote or fill any office in the Institute.

16. Any Fellow or Associate may withdraw from the Institute by signifying his or her wish to do so by letter, addressed to the Secretary at the rooms of the Institute; provided always that such Fellow or Associate shall continue to be liable for his or her annual subscription for the year in which he or she signifies his or her wish to withdraw. He or she shall further continue liable for such annual subscription until he or she shall have discharged all sums, if any, due by him or her to the Institute, and shall have returned all books or other property borrowed by him or her of the Institute; or shall have made full compensation for the same, if lost or not forthcoming. Nothing in this Rule shall be construed so as to confer on any Associate any right or privilege not conferred upon her by Rule 2.

17. The name of the Institute shall not be used as an address on any circular letter, report, correspondence, or document of a business character intended for publication, or any prospectus of a public company.

18. Whensoever there shall appear to the Council to be cause for the removal of the name of any Fellow or Associate of the Institute from the List of Fellows or Associates, or on receipt of a requisition to that effect with the reasons stated and signed by not less than twenty Fellows of the Institute, the subject shall be taken into consideration by the Council; and if the Members of the Council present in each case and being not less than twelve in number shall by a majority of not less than three-fourths determine to remove such Fellow or Associate, his or her name shall be cancelled in the Register of Fellows or Associates, provided that no such resolution shall be acted upon in the case of a Life Fellow unless the resolution of the Council to remove such Fellow shall be confirmed by an ordinary majority at a subsequent Meeting of the Council at which not less than twelve Councillors are present.

FEES AND SUBSCRIPTIONS.

19. Every Resident Fellow shall, on his election, be required to pay Three Pounds as his admission fee, and Two Pounds as his annual subscription for the year ending on the 31st December then next ensuing; or he may compound for his annual subscription, either at his entrance by the payment of Twenty Pounds, or after the payment of five or more annual subscriptions by the payment of Fifteen Pounds.

20. Every Non-Resident Fellow shall, on his election, be required to pay one Guinea as his admission fee, and One Guinea as his annual subscription for the year ending the 31st December then next ensuing; or he may compound for such subscription by the payment of Ten Pounds; or after the payment of twenty or more annual subscriptions by the payment of Five Pounds. Any Non-Resident Fellow who shall have become a Resident Fellow and wishes to compound, may do so by the payment of Twenty Pounds, or, if he shall have compounded as a Non-Resident Fellow, by the payment of the same sum as would have been required from a Resident Fellow, deducting the amount already paid on his compounding as a Non-Resident Fellow.

21. Any Resident Fellow absent from the United Kingdom for the whole of any calendar year shall be liable to pay the Non-Resident Fellow's subscription of One Guinea only, if he shall have given notice in writing to the Secretary of his intended absence.

22. Any Non-Resident Fellow arriving in the United Kingdom, and remaining in the United Kingdom for a period of six months, shall pay the Resident Fellow's subscription of Two Pounds per annum (less the amount already paid as a Non-Resident Fellow for that year), and shall continue to pay the same during his temporary stay in the United Kingdom.

23. Every Associate shall, on her election, be required to pay One Pound as her annual subscription for the year ending 31st December then next ensuing.

24. All subscriptions shall be due and payable on the 1st of January in each year.

25. No Fellow shall be entitled to vote, and no Fellow or Associate shall be entitled to enjoy any other privilege of the Institute so long as he or she shall continue in arrear. Honorary Fellows are not required to make any payments. The amount of annual subscription to be paid by Fellows absent from England, or joining late in the year, or for a limited time, may be varied by the Council.

26. A List of the Fellows and Associates who shall be in arrear at the time of the Annual Balance of the Accounts of the Institute shall be laid by the Treasurer before the Auditors to be certified by them.

27. Once in every year the name of every Resident Fellow and every Associate in arrear for three months, or, in the case of a Non-Resident Fellow, for twelve months, together with a statement of the arrear, shall be reported to the Council by the Finance Committee, and immediate notice of the same, with an account of such arrear, shall be forwarded to each such Fellow or Associate, whose name shall have been so reported, at his or her last known address. If the arrear be not paid within one calendar month, or, in the case of a Non-Resident Fellow, within twelve calendar months from the date of such notice, or within such further time as the Council may grant upon special cause to them shown, the name of the Fellow or Associate so reported, together with a statement of the arrear, shall be suspended in the Rooms of the Institute. If the arrear shall not be discharged within three months after such suspension, the Council may remove the name of such Fellow or Associate from the List of Fellows or Associates.

COUNCIL.

28. The President, two Vice-Presidents, or any four Councillors, may at any time call a Special Meeting of the Council, and when such Meeting is to be held every Member of the Council residing in the United Kingdom shall be summoned by notice specifying the object thereof.

29. In all Meetings of the Council five shall be a quorum ; and all questions shall be decided by open vote, unless a ballot be demanded by any three Fellows present.

30. Minutes of the proceedings of every Meeting of the Council shall be taken during their progress, in a rough book, by the Secretary, or, in case of his absence, by a Fellow present, whom the President or Chairman shall appoint for the occasion ; they shall be afterwards copied into a fair Minute-book to be kept for that purpose, read at the next Meeting of the Council, and, when confirmed, signed by the President or Chairman.

31. The Accounts of the Institute shall be from time to time examined by the Council, who shall present and cause to be read to the Annual Meeting a complete statement thereof, together with a report on the general affairs of the Institute during the preceding year.

32. The Council shall, from time to time, publish the proceedings and transactions of the Institute, and accompany them with maps, papers, and other matter, as occasion may require.

33. Each Fellow shall be entitled to a copy of the publications of the Institute ; but the mode of distribution shall be decided by the Council.

34. The Council shall, so soon as convenient, establish a Library, Reading-room, and Museum, to which all Fellows, and strangers provided with an order from a Fellow, shall be admitted, under such restrictions as may appear to the Council necessary.

35. The Council may appoint persons, not being Members of the Council, to be salaried Officers, Clerks, or Servants, for carrying on the necessary concerns of the Institute, and may define the duties to be performed by them respectively ; and may allow to them respectively such salaries, gratuities, and privileges as to the Council may seem proper ; and may suspend or discharge any Officer, Clerk, or Servant from office, whenever there shall seem to them occasion for so doing.

36. The Council may appoint in any Colony or Dependency of the British Empire, or elsewhere when it may seem expedient, one or more Fellows as Corresponding Secretary or Secretaries.

39. The Council may refer particular subjects to Committees, and such Committees shall report to the Council the result of their proceedings.

40. All Committees shall be appointed by the Council. The President, Chairman of the Council, and Secretary (when honorary) shall, ex officio, be Members of all Committees.

41. No act, order, or resolution of any Committee shall bind the Institute unless it be done or made by the direction and authority of the Council, or be ratified by them.

42. It shall be competent for the Council to invite the co-operation of persons, not Fellows of the Institute, but who have special knowledge of any particular subject, and to place such persons on any Committee which may be appointed.

PRESIDENT.

43. The President, when present, presides at all Meetings of the Council and of the Fellows. The Council shall annually elect a Chairman of the Council, who shall hold office for one year, and shall be eligible for re-election, and shall preside in the absence of the President. In the absence of the President, and of the Chairman of the Council, one of the Vice-Presidents, or one of the Members of the Council, shall supply the place of the President or Chairman of the Council.

44. It is the duty of the Chairman of the Council to carry out the Rules of the Institute, to see that all the Officers of the Institute, and Members of the Council and of Committees perform the duties assigned to or undertaken by them respectively ; to call for Reports and Accounts from Committees and persons ; to cause of his own authority, and, when necessary, Special Meetings of the Council and of the Committees to be summoned ; and to propose, from time to time, to the Council such measures as shall appear to him conducive to the welfare of the Institute.

45. It is the duty of the Chairman of the Council, conjointly with the Council, to consider and resolve on the names of Fellows who are to be recommended at the Annual Meeting to fill up all vacant offices.

46. When prevented from being present at the Meetings of the Fellows or Council, or from otherwise attending to the current business of the Institute, the Chairman of the Council will be expected to give timely notice thereof to one of the Vice-Presidents, or, in their absence, to some other Member of the Council, or to the Secretary, in order that his place may be properly supplied.

47. The President, or, in his absence, the Chairman for the time being, shall have power to rule and regulate the discussions arising at any Meeting of the Institute.

48. In all Meetings of the Institute and Council, except in the cases otherwise provided for, the decision of a majority of the Fellows voting shall be considered as a decision of the Meeting, the President or Chairman having a casting vote, in addition to his own vote.

TREASURER.

49. The Treasurer has special charge of all Accounts, and shall see to the collection of all sums of money due to the Institute, which, when received, shall be immediately paid to the Bankers of the Institute.

50. In concert with the Secretary, the Treasurer shall keep a List of the Fellows of the Institute, with the name and address of each accurately set forth, which List, with all Books of Account, shall be laid on the table at every Ordinary Meeting of the Council.

51. He shall pay all Accounts due by the Institute, as soon as they have been examined and approved by the Council. But no drafts on its Bankers shall be payable unless signed by two of the Council and countersigned by the Secretary. The Accounts of the Treasurer shall be annually audited by a firm of Chartered Accountants appointed by the Fellows at the Annual General Meeting.

ORDINARY MEETINGS.

52. The Ordinary Meetings shall be held on such evenings, and at such hour, as may from time to time be fixed by the Council.

B. Election of Candidates to be announced.

C. Papers and Communications to be read and discussed.

55. At the Ordinary Meetings of the Institute nothing relating to its Rules or Management, except as regards the election of Fellows, shall be brought forward, unless the same shall have been announced in the notice calling the Meeting, or be otherwise provided for in these Rules. But the Minute-book of the Council shall be on the table at each Meeting, and extracts therefrom may be read to the Meeting on the requisition of any Fellow.

56. No paper shall be read at any Ordinary Meeting of the Institute unless it shall have been approved of by the Council or by the Committee on Papers and Publications ; but this approval shall not be taken as expressing an opinion upon the statements made or the arguments used in such Paper.

SPECIAL MEETINGS.

57. The Council may at any time call a Special General Meeting of the Institute, and it shall be imperative on the Council to summon such Meeting, whenever required in writing so to do by at least twenty-five Fellows of the Institute.

58. A week's notice at least of the time when, and the object for which, every Special Meeting is to be holden shall be sent to every Resident Fellow and to every Non-Resident Fellow of the Institute who has registered an address for service in the United Kingdom ; and no other business than that of which notice has been thus given shall be entered upon or discussed at such Meeting.

59. A Special General Meeting, convened as herein provided, may be holden on any one of the days appointed for the Ordinary General Meetings, in which case the special business shall be entered upon immediately after the ordinary business of the day is closed.

61. The Annual Meeting shall be held not later than the month of May.

62. Every Non-Resident Fellow shall be at liberty to register at the Institute an address for service of notices in the United Kingdom.

63. Notice of this Meeting shall be sent to every Resident Fellow and to every Non-Resident Fellow of the Institute who has registered an address for service in the United Kingdom, together with the Voting List referred to in Rule 65, and such notice and Voting List shall be sent as soon after the Ordinary Meeting referred to in Rule 65 as possible, and at least fourteen days before the day of the Annual Meeting. Notice of the Annual Meeting shall also be inserted in two or more English newspapers at least one week before the day of the Meeting.

64. The business of this Meeting shall be to receive and discuss the Annual Report of the Council, to hear the President's Address, to announce the result of the voting for the election of Fellows to fill the vacancies on the Council, and to consider such business as shall be brought forward by the Council or with the sanction of the Council, and which shall have been stated in the notice convening such Meeting.

65. For the purpose of filling the vacancies annually occurring under the provisions of Rule 7 in the Council, the Council shall prepare a List of Fellows, to be nominated by them as suitable to fill the vacancies to occur at the end of the year in the offices of President, Vice-President, Treasurer, and Councillors. The Council shall nominate a sufficient number of Fellows to fill the vacancies for that year, and then there shall be added to such List the name of any Fellow nominated since the last Annual General Meeting in writing by not less than twenty Resident Fellows for the office of Councillor, the consent in writing of such Candidate having been first obtained and forwarded with the nomination to the Secretary at least twenty-eight days previous to the date of the Annual Meeting. Provided always, that no Resident Fellow (who is not a member of the Council) may nominate more than one Fellow for the office of Councillor in any one year. Such List shall be the Voting List for the Annual Election. If no Fellow shall be nominated for the office of Councillor aforesaid in addition to the nominations by the Council, the Fellows nominated by the Council to fill the vacancies in the various offices for that year shall be deemed respectively elected without any ballot being necessary, and the Voting List need not be printed and circulated. If there shall be additional nominations for the office of Councillor the Voting List shall be printed, and a copy thereof sent by post, with all requisite instructions for voting and an official envelope, with the notice convening the Annual Meeting, to every Resident Fellow and every Non-Resident Fellow of the Institute who has registered an address for service in the United Kingdom, and shall be returned in the official envelope to the Secretary, duly filled up and signed by such Fellow, at least three clear days before the Annual Meeting. At the Ordinary Meeting next before each Annual Meeting two Fellows shall be chosen to act as Scrutineers for the purpose of the voting for the ensuing year, one of whom shall be nominated and appointed by and on behalf of the Council, and the other by and on behalf of the Fellows. The Scrutineers so appointed whenever a ballot takes place shall, prior to the Annual Meeting, open the official envelopes received by the Secretary containing the Voting Lists and count the votes and report in writing to the Council the names of those duly elected, together with the names of those, if any, for whom an equality of votes may have been cast. In the event of an equality of votes, the result shall be determined by vote of the Council on the day of the Annual Meeting. Any Voting List on which a Fellow has voted for a number, either more or less, than the necessary number of persons to fill up the vacancies in the offices of President, Vice-Presidents, Treasurer, and Councillors respectively, shall be rejected by the Scrutineers. The Notice of Meeting and the Voting List shall be in the form set forth in the Schedule to these Rules, or as near thereto as may be.

66. The chair shall be taken at the hour appointed in the Notice of the Meeting, or as soon thereafter as twenty Fellows shall be present.

68. Any twenty-five Fellows may propose to the Council any new Rule, or the alteration or repeal of any existing Rule, by letter addressed to the Secretary; and, if dissatisfied with the answer of the Council, they may require that their proposition be referred to a Special General Meeting, which the Council shall convene for that purpose within one calendar month after receiving such requisition.

69. No repeal or alteration of any of these Rules, nor addition thereto, shall be considered valid unless concurred in by three-fourths of the Fellows present and voting in each case.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

I bequeath the sum of £ to the ROYAL COLONIAL INSTITUTE, Incorporated by Royal Charter 1882, and I declare that the receipt of the Treasurer for the time being of the said Corporation shall be an effectual discharge for the said Bequest which I direct to be paid within calendar months after my decease, without any reduction whatsoever, whether on account of Legacy Duty thereon or otherwise, out of such part of my estate as may be lawfully applied for that purpose.

Those persons who feel disposed to benefit the Royal Colonial Institute by Legacies are recommended to adopt the above Form of Bequest.

V.—THE INSTITUTE BUILDING.

In the year 1869 the Institute occupied two rooms in the Westminster Palace Hotel, temporary office-room having been previously given in Victoria Chambers by Sir George Verdon, a Member of the Council. In the following year, rooms were acquired at 26 Suffolk Street, Pall Mall East. In 1871 the subject of house accommodation was again considered, and on November 20 of that year three rooms, constituting the first floor of 15 Strand, were engaged at an annual rental of £150. This accommodation was extended by taking in the upper floor of that house on January 7, 1873.

In the year 1883 it was decided to acquire a permanent home for the Institute in lieu of the very inadequate premises hitherto occupied. The lease of a site in Northumberland Avenue—the freehold of which has since been purchased—was secured, and, after a total expenditure of £50,000, part of the present substantial and commodious building was occupied in 1885.

The growing importance of the Institute, the widening of its scope, and increase of its membership rendered extension of the premises in occupation a matter of pressing urgency, and in June 1910 the opportunity was afforded to absorb and consolidate the whole property for the use and benefit of the Fellows.

Under a reconstruction scheme the premises in Northumberland Avenue were almost entirely rebuilt, with the idea of providing more suitable and adequate accommodation. As a result, instead of the seven inconveniently small and inappropriate rooms formerly available, there are twenty-five well-equipped rooms, and the building as it now stands consists of five stories apportioned as follows: In the basement is the parliamentary library, and library store-rooms, together with lavatories, &c. On the ground floor is the entrance-hall, on the left of which is a general-room in which smoking is allowed and the daily papers, writing materials, &c., are available. On the right is a reception-room in which ladies, as well as the Fellows, can obtain tea and coffee, and meet their friends. On the right again are the hall porter's lodge where Fellows obtain their correspondence, and the general office, in which is the chief clerk's room. On the mezzanine floor is the secretary's room and the typewriting department. The general library occupies the whole of the first floor. On the half-landing between the first and second floors is the Law library and map-room. On the second floor, occupying the whole of the frontage to Northumberland Avenue and the portion of the Craven Street premises, is the newspaper-room, a spacious apartment in which the newspapers, official gazettes, &c., from all parts of the Empire are regularly filed. On the third floor are the council-room and smoking-room, and on the fourth floor the editorial department, the Empire lectures department, the housekeeper's quarters, and some small rooms which can be used either as students' rooms, private conference rooms, or as dressing-rooms.

COUNCIL ROOM

VI.—PRIVILEGES OF FELLOWS AND ASSOCIATES.

Membership.—The Institute consists of Resident and Non-Resident Fellows, and Lady Associates (who must be British Subjects), elected by the Council on the nomination of two Fellows, one of whom at least must sign on personal knowledge. A Resident Fellow (who has a permanent home in the United Kingdom) pays an entrance fee of £3 and an annual subscription of £2; a Non-Resident Fellow (who has his permanent home outside the United Kingdom) pays an entrance fee of £1 1s. (which is increased to £3 when taking up permanent residence in the United Kingdom) and an annual subscription of £1 1s. (which is increased to £2 when in the United Kingdom for more than six months). Lady Associates pay an annual subscription of £1. Resident Fellows can compound for the annual subscription by the payment of £20, or after five years' annual subscriptions of £2 on payment of £15; and Non-Resident Fellows can compound for the non-resident annual subscription on payment of £10, or after the payment of twenty or more annual subscriptions on the payment of £5.

Privileges of Fellows.—The privileges of Fellows, whose subscriptions are not in arrear, include the use of the Institute building, which comprises reading, writing, reception, and smoking-rooms; a library containing nearly 90,000 volumes and pamphlets relating to the history, government, trade, resources and development of the British Dominions. The history of every British possession from its commencement can be studied here by the future historian of the British Empire, and the whole history of British Exploration from Hakluyt downwards is available for students. The newspaper-room contains files of 670 of the leading journals, magazines, and reviews of all parts of the Empire, which are regularly received and filed. Books may be borrowed—subject to the library regulations—and the correspondence of Fellows may be addressed to the care of the Institute, a permanent postal and telegraphic address being thus afforded. Fellows are entitled to be present at the ordinary meetings, and to introduce one visitor; to be present at any annual provincial conference; to be present at the annual conversazione, and to introduce a lady. The Institute is open on week-days from 9.30 A.M. to 10 P.M.

Journal.—The monthly journal, entitled UNITED EMPIRE, traverses as far as possible the whole field of Imperial activities, and is forwarded to all Fellows whose addresses are known, free of charge.

Lady Associates.—An Associate shall be entitled to receive a copy of the monthly journal of the Institute, to attend any meeting held for the reading of Papers or any annual provincial conference of the Institute, and to attend the annual conversazione.

VII.—PUBLICATIONS.

ANNUAL VOLUME OF "PROCEEDINGS."

IN the year 1869 the first volume of the "Proceedings of the Royal Colonial Institute" was issued. It contained a complete report of the meeting called by public advertisement for the purpose of adopting measures for forming an Association to be called the Colonial Society, at which speeches were made by Viscount Bury (afterwards the Earl of Albemarle), the Right Hon. Chichester Fortescue, M.P., Mr. Leonard Wray, Mr. A. H. Louis, the Marquis of Normanby, Mr. Baillie Cochrane, M.P., Sir H. Drummond Wolff, Mr. Edward Wilson, Mr. W. B. Hume, Sir Charles Nicholson, Mr. Henry Braine, Mr. Marsh, M.P., and Mr. Selim Jackson. A full account of the proceedings at the inaugural dinner, at which Viscount Bury presided, also appear in the volume. It was a memorable occasion in view of the fact that a large number of the leading politicians of the time representing the Motherland and the Overseas Dominions, Colonies and India were present, including Mr. Gladstone, Earl Granville, the Duke of Manchester, Sir Bartle Frere, Sir Charles Nicholson, Sir George E. Cartier, Sir Charles Clifford, Sir George Verdon, Sir George Macleay, Captain Charles Sturt, Sir James A. Yowl, Mr. W. C. Wentworth, and many other distinguished men. In the report of the inaugural meeting, which was held in the Theatre of the Institution of Civil Engineers on March 15, 1869, Viscount Bury referred at some length to the great increase in the number of scientific and literary institutions which was observable at that time, and emphasised the fact that in his opinion an unnecessary number of institutions differing only slightly from each other in the objects which they profess to aim at, fritter away in the expenses of management funds which, under a system of cordial co-operation, would be available for more extended and practical usefulness. He claimed that there was no society or body of men in existence in England dealing with the one great object of the Society—the diffusion of accurate information upon Colonial subjects among our countrymen. The first Paper read before the Institute dealt with “The Relations of the Colonies to the Mother Country,” which was written by Mr. W. Westgarth, and is a subject that has always occupied a prominent place in the annual programme of the Institute. The Institute, through its publications, has done a vast amount of valuable work, more especially in diffusing accurate information to those in this country desiring to gain a knowledge of the various Overseas Possessions, as well as in shaping public opinion by quiet and steady educational work. The first volume of the “Proceedings” contained 216 pages, and the second 166. In succeeding years the size of the volume of “Proceedings” varied between 400 and 500 pages. The “Proceedings” continued to be issued until the year 1909, when they were replaced by a monthly journal entitled UNITED EMPIRE. Forty volumes in all were issued.

THE “JOURNAL.”

In the year 1890 it was decided to issue an additional publication to be known as the “Journal of the Royal Colonial Institute,” to be published in advance of and in addition to the annual volume of “Proceedings.” The first number appeared in December 1890, and it was issued during eight months of each year, viz. from December to July inclusive, until December 1909. The number of volumes issued was nineteen.

“UNITED EMPIRE.”

During the year 1909, it having been decided that a review, or magazine, would be one of the most effective means for widening the sphere of influence of the Institute and increasing its popularity and usefulness, a new monthly journal, entitled UNITED EMPIRE, was issued on January 1, 1910, which superseded both the annual volume of “Proceedings” and the “Journal.” This review is designed to traverse as far as possible the whole field of Imperial activities, and cannot fail to prove of advantage to the trader, manufacturer and farmer, as well as to officials, politicians and others in all parts of the Empire. The yearly volume averages about one thousand pages, and contains numerous maps, illustrations and diagrams. Its contents comprise the Papers read at the meetings of the Institute, articles contributed by recognised authorities on Imperial questions, editorial notes, &c. Special sections are devoted to reviews and notices of books, pamphlets, &c., relating to all parts of the Overseas Empire ; to information regarding Empire trade and industry ; and to Greater Britain notes. The journal, which is not only sent to every Fellow and Associate of the Institute, but to institutions and clubs throughout the Empire, is edited by Mr. Archibald R. Colquhoun.

VIII.—MEETINGS.

THE ordinary general meetings of the Institute at which Papers are read or addresses delivered are held on the second Tuesdays during the months of November to June at 8.30 P.M. Afternoon meetings for the same purpose are also held during the above mentioned months at 4 P.M. The Papers are often illustrated by lantern slides, and the subjects are so selected as to embrace all parts of the Overseas Empire. A discussion takes place upon all occasions. The evening meetings are preceded by a dinner, which takes place at 7 o'clock, and is attended by Fellows and their friends, both ladies and gentlemen, representing all parts of the Empire, and so assists in promoting acquaintanceship amongst them. The following Papers were read and discussed during the Session 1911-12 :—

- “ Empire Trade Relations.” By Ben. H. Morgan.
- “ Sierra Leone and its Commercial Expansion.” By T. J. Alldridge, I.S.O.
- “ The New Day in Rhodesia.” By Charles W. Boyd, C.M.G.
- “ The Past, Present and Future of Australia.” By Right. Hon. Sir George H. Reid, K.C.M.G.
- “ A Higher and Truer Imperialism.” By Right Hon. Sir Joseph Ward, Bart., K.C.M.G.
- “ Imperial Telegraphs.” By Charles Bright, F.R.S.E., M.Inst.C.E., M.I.E.E.
- “ True Imperialism.” By Dr. George R. Parkin, C.M.G.
- “ British and German Influence in West Africa.” By Mrs. Mary Gaunt.
- “ The Outlying Islands of New Zealand.” By Lord Plunket, G.C.M.G., K.C.V.O.
- “ Burma: the Cinderella.” By Sir J. George Scott, K.C.I.E.
- “ Impressions of the Commonwealth of Australia.” By the Earl of Dudley, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O.

IX.—THE LIBRARY.

THE library of the Royal Colonial Institute contains nearly ninety thousand volumes and pamphlets relating to the British Dominions, Colonies, and India, or discussing problems of administration and colonisation. One of the objects for which the Institute was founded was the formation of such a library, but owing to lack of funds little progress was made until the Council were in a position to vote a small annual grant. In 1881, thirteen years after the foundation of the Institute, the library only contained 2500 volumes, but from about the year 1886 substantial progress was made, so that at the present time it can claim to possess the most complete collection of colonial literature brought together under one roof. Although many valuable and necessary books were annually purchased, the substantial increase of recent years is largely attributable to donations from the various Overseas Governments and India, the Secretaries of State, the different learned societies, Chambers of Commerce, and other public bodies, and from publishers and authors in all parts of the Empire. Co-operation from these quarters has enabled the Institute to gather together a unique collection which is of great value to students of Empire topics and to all those who are seeking information with regard to the administration, resources, trade, history, law, ethnology, and general conditions of the wide domains under the British flag. The library, the main portion of which is situated on the first floor of the Institute building, is divided into as many sections as there are separate administrative units within the Empire. These sections are further subdivided according to subjects, so that all the books on a given topic are found together on the shelves. To take a specific example: under Canada will be found the books dealing with the history, agriculture, fauna, education, &c., of the Dominion, each contained in separate divisions. The parliamentary library, which contains the Blue-books, parliamentary reports, debates, sessional papers, government gazettes, and general official literature issued by the Overseas Governments, is contained in the basement. In these official publications is hidden away an immense amount of information of value to students of sociology, history, ethnology, &c. Of specially important publications may be mentioned the various geological, archæological, ethnological, and other surveys, the gazetteers issued by the Indian Government, and the different departmental reports. This room has been fitted with rolling book-stacks which contain long sets of periodicals, agricultural journals, and publications of a similar nature, including a collection of colonial municipal reports, regulations, and mayors' minutes. On the ground floor are some of the proceedings of the learned and literary societies, many of which are of great importance. It is only necessary to name a few, such as the Royal Society of Canada, the Royal Societies of Victoria and other Australian States, the Royal Geographical Societies of the different provinces of the Empire, as well as the British and Foreign Geographical Societies, such as those of London, Liverpool, Paris, Lisbon, Vienna, Madrid, and Antwerp. Next to the general library, on the first floor, is situated the law library and map-room. This portion of the library is one of its most valuable sections, for it not only contains almost complete sets of the statutes of the Dominions, Colonies, and India, but also long sets of the various law reports and law journals and many treatises on special aspects of Colonial law.

The practical importance of the law library has been demonstrated by the frequent reference to its contents by lawyers engaged upon Privy Council and other legal work connected with the Dominions and Crown Colonies. In the law library is also kept an extensive collection of several thousand maps and charts, presented mainly by the Admiralty, the War Office, and the Overseas Governments.

The additions to the library are catalogued upon cards, and every item which deals in any way with the British Empire, be it book, pamphlet, or magazine article, is carefully noted for future reference. The first printed catalogue was published in 1881, and the last in 1901, since which date no catalogue has been issued for distribution. The printed catalogues form a fairly complete bibliography of the literary activities of the Empire, and the manuscript catalogues reveal the immense range of literature published during recent years. Amongst the treasures of the library are many books of great value and rarity, both bibliographically and historically. The collection of drawings made by William Westall, A.R.A., who accompanied Flinders on his expedition to the shores of Australia in 1801-2, is unique, as are those of scenes in the Transvaal and in Rhodesia made by A. A. Anderson. The collection of books relating to Australia is extensive, and contains the chief collections of voyages to the South Seas, a valuable set of Gould's Birds, and many scarce pamphlets. The Dominion of Canada is also well represented, and amongst the rarer books may be noted Colden's "History of the Five Nations" (1747); Jeffrey's "Natural and Civil History of the French Dominions in North and South America" (1761); Rogers' "Account of North America" (1765); Sagard's "Le Grand Voyage du Pays des Hurons" (1632); Bacqueville's "Histoire de l'Amerique Septentrionale"; Charlevoix' "Histoire de La Nouvelle France" (1744), and the celebrated series of the Jesuit Relations. The literature relating to the West Indies is extensive, and contains Davies' "History of the Caribby Islands" (1666); Burton's "English Empire in America" (1685); Blome's "Jamaica" (1672), and Hickeringill's "Jamaica Viewed," an extremely rare publication issued in 1661. The African section, Eastern, Western, and Southern, is of great interest. Here are the sumptuous volumes issued by Ogilby in 1670, containing some of the earliest illustrations of the Cape, the quaint literary hoax written by Damberger in 1801, Kolbe's "Present State of the Cape" (1718), and the works of the principal African voyagers and discoverers, such as Sparmann, Paterson, Barrow, Lichtenstein, Le Vaillant, Latrobe, Burchell, and many others. A splendid edition of Daniell's "African Scenery and Animals," and other rare illustrated works add distinction to this section of the library. The Indian section also contains many of the more important works relating to India, and a special section is devoted to Egypt and the Sudan. Nor are the smaller dependencies neglected. There is quite a collection of literature relating to the Falkland Islands, and even such small islands as the Cocos-Keeling group and Fanning Island have their section in the catalogue as well as on the shelves. Of general works of travel attention may be directed to those known as Hakluyt (1598-1600); Purchas (1625-6); Churchill (1732); Harleian (1745); Harris (1705); Callander (1788); Burney (1803-17); Pinkerton (1808); Astley (1745-7); Kerr (1811-24); Ramusio (1554-83), and Prévost (1746-70), and the publications of the Hakluyt, Navy Records, Linschoten, and similar societies. Among special sections may be mentioned one containing the prose and poetic writings of Colonial littérateurs. The importance of the growing national literatures of Canada, Australia, and even South Africa is attested by the size of the special sections. There is also a botanical section in which the chief works on the floras of the Colonies are kept, and a language section containing publications on and in native languages is being formed. A journey round the bookshelves reveals the greatness of the British Empire, and brings home in a better way than can perhaps be done elsewhere the vast amount of literature that has been written about the British possessions. The library is becoming more and more known to literary workers, and many well-known works on subjects of colonial and imperial interest have been written within its walls.

X.—THE NEWSPAPER ROOM.

OVER 670 newspapers, journals, and magazines are received and filed at the Institute. Most of the monthly and quarterly magazines are kept in the library or on tables in the law-room, but the newspapers and weekly journals are displayed on stands in the newspaper-room. They include periodical publications from every portion of the British Empire, which are arranged in different sections, and can be easily and quickly found. It may be stated that almost every newspaper of any importance is received, many of them being presented by their publishers. Fellows from overseas and Resident Fellows who have returned to the Mother Country, find the newspaper-room one of the most useful features of the Institute, for by means of the files of current papers, they are enabled to keep in close touch with events in the portion of the Empire with which they are connected. No other institution has so good a display of Colonial periodical publications. It would be invidious to point out any special paper or journal, but attention may be directed to the various classes of papers that are filed in this room. First are the daily newspapers published in the capitals and chief cities of the Empire, and reflecting the political and social life of their respective spheres. The majority of these are, after the expiration of one year, handed over to the British Museum for permanent storage, and Fellows of the Institute may always consult back files on presentation of their card to the museum officials. Then there are the official gazettes from every State in the Empire, which are kept permanently in the Institute so that they may be available for reference at any time. Many important trade journals, both of a technical and commercial character, are also received, and by their aid the business man is able to follow the different commercial movements in the Empire. There is in addition a number of papers and magazines of a special character, relating to medicine and tropical hygiene, mining, engineering, and tropical products; whilst the magazines include the chief British and overseas monthlies, and reflect every phase of thought. The magazines also include the agricultural journals of the different States, the periodical journals of the chief British, Colonial, and foreign learned societies, the journals of the principal geographical societies, a number of reviews dealing with anthropological and linguistic topics, and the various law reports and legal journals published in the Overseas Dominions.

XII.—EMPIRE LECTURES COMMITTEE.

SIR GODFREY LAGDEN, K.C.M.G., Chairman; Lieut.-Gen. Sir J. Bevan Edwards, K.C.M.G., C.B., Lieut.-Gen. Sir Edward T. H. Hutton, K.C.M.G., C.B., Sir Charles P. Lucas, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., Sir Harry Wilson, K.C.M.G., Ralph S. Bond, Esq., L. S. Amery, Esq., M.P., Richard Jebb, Esq., Fred Dutton, Esq., A. R. Colquhoun, Esq.

This committee was formed during the year 1910 for the purpose of inculcating the principles governing the Institute, and spreading throughout the United Kingdom detailed knowledge as to the present resources and future development and consolidation of the Empire by means of illustrated lectures dealing with all parts of the Overseas Empire. The diffusion of knowledge concerning the Empire is one of the principal objects for which the Institute was originally founded, and has been steadily and regularly carried out at the sessional meetings of the Institute in London by the Papers which are then read and the discussions which take place thereon. But the opportunities for attending these meetings to those who live outside London and its immediate neighbourhood are naturally restricted, and it is for that reason that steps have been taken to further this particular branch of the Institute's work throughout the country..

To maintain a regular scheme of lectures on a large scale necessarily involves considerable expense, and the extent therefore to which it may be found possible to develop the movement must be largely dependent upon the amount of funds which are from time to time available for the purpose. With this object in view, a special fund, known as the "Empire Lectures Fund," has been established, and subscriptions thereto may be addressed to the Secretary of the Institute. Mr. W. H. Garrison, who has been appointed Official Lecturer to the Institute, has travelled extensively throughout the British Empire, and has therefore a personal knowledge of its various parts. It is hoped that the movement may be so extended in the near future that it may become necessary to organise a small staff of lecturers to carry on the work. The lectures comprise the following subjects :—

1. "Our World-Wide Empire."
2. "Outposts of the Empire."
3. "The Dominion of Canada."
4. "The Commonwealth of Australia."
5. "The Union of South Africa, and Rhodesia."
6. "The Romance of India, and the Delhi Durbar."
7. "New Zealand—The Wonderland of the World."
8. "Ceylon—Eden of the Eastern Wave."
9. "The British Isles of the Far Pacific."
10. "Our Crown Colonies, Dependencies, and Protectorates."
11. "Newfoundland—Our oldest Colony."
12. "The Straits Settlements, the Malay States, and North Borneo."
13. "British West Indies."
14. "Round the World on the King's Highway—the All-Red Route."

XIII.—EMIGRATION COMMITTEE.

THE formation of a Standing Committee on Emigration was the result of a conference which was organised by the Royal Colonial Institute and held at the Whitehall Rooms on May 30–31, 1910. Delegates from forty-nine emigration societies in the United Kingdom attended the conference, and the basis of the discussions was (1) diverting as far as possible the stream of emigration now going outside the Empire, and (2) (generally) to direct emigrants from the United Kingdom to the British Dominions Overseas.

A report of the conference was subsequently issued, which contained a complete record of each day's proceedings.

In accordance with a resolution which was unanimously passed, the following representative Standing Committee has been appointed :—

His Grace the Duke of Marlborough, K.G., Chairman ; Colonel H. E. Rawson, C.B., Lieut.-Gen. Sir J. Bevan Edwards, K.C.M.G., C.B., Sir Godfrey Lagden, K.C.M.G., Lady Knightley of Fawsley, Walter Hazell, Esq., J.P., F. Morris, Esq., Douglas Eyre, Esq., Miss Mary K. Grimes, William Baker, Esq., M.A., LL.B., T. M. Kirkwood, Esq., Rev. R. L. Gwynne, Colonel D. C. Lamb, E. C. Gates, Esq., Philip H. Kerr, Esq., Miss C. M. Wadge, Guy W. Radford, Esq., Hon. Lady Talbot, Colonel Hon. H. Lawson, M.P., Sir C. Kinloch Cooke, M.P., W. A. Evans, Esq.

XIV.—EMPIRE TRADE AND INDUSTRY COMMITTEE.

BEN H. MORGAN, Esq., Chairman ; Lieut.-Gen. Sir J. Bevan Edwards, K.C.M.G., C.B. (Chairman of Council of the Institute), Sir Godfrey Lagden, K.C.M.G. (Deputy-Chairman of Council of the Institute), Richard Jebb, Esq., Sir Daniel Morris, K.C.M.G., Henry Birchenough, Esq., C.M.G., The Hon. Sir C. H. Rason, Hugo Hirst, Esq. (Chairman, Manufacturers' Association), Stanley Machin, Esq. (Chairman, London Chamber of Commerce), Edward Manville, Esq. (Chairman, Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders), Colonel John Denny, Major Archer-Shee, D.S.O., M.P., Lord Merthyr, K.C.V.O., R. K. Morcom, Esq., G. McL. Brown, Esq., F. C. Salter, Esq., Ellis T. Powell, Esq., LL.B., B.Sc.

The objects of the committee are :—

(1) To facilitate, encourage and arrange industrial conferences or meetings to be attended by men of affairs from any or all parts of the Empire, in order to discuss questions of common interest with a view to regulating and co-ordinating the conditions of Empire trade and industry.

(2) To encourage and facilitate Empire trade and industry, e.g. by arranging for the reading of Papers and delivery of Addresses on financial, industrial, and trade subjects by authorities before the Institute itself and before Chambers of Commerce, trade bodies, and like institutions in the leading industrial centres.

The work of the committee has received the support and co-operation of the Governments of the various Overseas Possessions, who have undertaken to supply to the Institute their reports and other documents affecting Empire trade and industry.

The following subjects have already engaged the attention of the committee, and formal resolutions have been forwarded to the President of the Board of Trade and the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and otherwise dealt with :—

1. Uniformity of Company Law within the Empire.
2. The work of the British Consular Service in regard to Empire trade.
3. The establishment of through bookings of goods by sea and land from one part of the Empire to another.
4. The issue of popular handbooks setting forth the resources and trade conditions of the Crown Colonies and dependencies.
5. The necessity of taking some definite action to develop the resources of and British trade with India and the Crown Colonies and dependencies by the appointment of Trade Commissioners as has recently been done in the case of the self-governing dominions.

The representations which the committee have made in connection with some of the foregoing matters have already met with a measure of success.

The broadening of the work of the Institute generally, of which the watching over the interests of the mercantile, manufacturing, engineering, and shipping interests is an essential feature, will no doubt prove of service in strengthening and cementing trade relations and thereby promoting the unity of the Empire.

XV.—ANNUAL DINNER AND CONVERSAZIONE.

THE annual dinner is held, as a rule, during the month of May, and is presided over by either the President or one of the Vice-Presidents of the Institute. The Chairmen of the last few years include H.R.H. the Prince of Wales (afterwards H.M. King Edward VII), H.R.H. the Prince of Wales (now H.M. King George V); Field-

XVIII.—REPORT OF THE COUNCIL

PRESENTED AT THE ANNUAL MEETING

On TUESDAY, MARCH 5, 1912

1. The Royal Colonial Institute, which closes the forty-third year of its existence with the issue of this Report, was founded at a Meeting held in the year 1868 for the purpose of promoting the increase and diffusion of knowledge respecting the Colonies and Dependencies, and the preservation of a permanent union between the Mother Country and various parts of the Empire. As a means of promoting these objects, and as a meeting place for those interested in them, the Institute has provided a substantial building in the heart of the Empire which contains a library and newspaper room chiefly devoted to Colonial literature, together with reading, writing, smoking, and reception rooms; it issues a monthly Journal, entitled UNITED EMPIRE, which is devoted to the history, trade, resources, and development of all parts of the British Empire, and is forwarded free of cost to all the Fellows; it also makes provision for the frequent reading and discussion of papers connected with Imperial and Colonial questions.

2. A significant feature of the growth of the Institute during the year under review is the largely increased Membership of both Resident and Non-Resident Fellows. This may be attributed chiefly to appreciation of the value of the Institute, and to the active co-operation of the Honorary Corresponding Secretaries.

FELLOWS AND ASSOCIATES.

3. During the past year 223 Resident, 555 Non-Resident, 54 Associates, and 2 Honorary Fellows have been elected, making a total of 834, as compared with 158 Resident, 529 Non-Resident Fellows, 39 Associates, and 1 Honorary Fellow, or a total of 725 in 1910. On December 31, 1911, there were 1,676 Resident, 3,807 Non-Resident Fellows, 110 Associates, and 15 Honorary Fellows, or 5,608 in all; of whom

1,500 have compounded for the annual subscription and qualified as Life Members. The number of Lady Associates, whose privileges entitle them to receive a copy of the monthly Journal of the Institute, to attend any Meeting held for the reading of Papers or any Annual Provincial Conference of the Institute, and to attend the Annual Conversazione, has increased from 18 in 1909 to 110 on 31st December, 1911.

RHODES SCHOLARS.

4. Twenty-four Rhodes Scholars have been made Honorary Fellows during their residence at Oxford, in place of a similar number who have completed their studies at the University.

ACCOUNTS.

5. As will be seen from the annexed Statement of Receipts and Payments, the total Receipts for the year amounted to £9,754 18s. 8d., of which £7,633 16s. consisted of Entrance Fees and Subscriptions of Fellows and Associates, showing an increase under this heading for the year of £883 16s.

The net ordinary expenditure for the year, after deducting £2,952 10s. 6d., Cost of New Furniture and balance of cost of Reconstruction of the Building, and also £1,157 5s. 6d. receipts for Institute Dinners and Conversazione, was £8,507 8s. 9d., compared with £6,242 17s. 8d. for 1910.

6. Since the foundation of the Institute the Accounts have been annually audited by two Fellows of the Institute, one representing the Council and the other the Fellows. The Council are of opinion that the time has arrived when the Accounts should be audited by a firm of Accountants, and they have therefore appointed Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co. Auditors to the Institute, subject to confirmation by the Fellows at the Annual Meeting. The necessary alterations to the Rules to give effect to this action were submitted to the Fellows at an Ordinary Meeting held on January 9, 1912, and approved.

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT OF NUMBER OF FELLOWS AND ANNUAL REVENUE.

7. The following Table shows the number of Fellows and Associates and the Annual Income in each year since the foundation of the Institute in the year 1868 :—

ENTERTAINMENTS.

13. The Annual Conversazione was held at the Natural History Museum, by permission of the Trustees of the British Museum, on June 16, and was attended by a large number of guests representing all parts of the British Empire.

14. The Annual Dinner, which was held at the Hotel Cecil on May 24 (Empire Day), was a brilliant function, at which the President of the Institute, H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, presided, and among the principal guests were the Prime Ministers of the Overseas Dominions who were in England in connection with the Imperial Conference, and who responded to the Toast of "The British Dominions Beyond the Seas."

15. Earl Grey, on his arrival in England from Canada on relinquishing the office of Governor-General of the Dominion, was entertained at a Complimentary Banquet, which was presided over by the Rt. Hon. Lewis Harcourt, M.P., Secretary of State for the Colonies. The guests included leading Members of both Houses of Parliament, distinguished statesmen, and representatives of all parts of the Empire.

MEETINGS.

16. The General Meetings of the Fellows have been numerous attended, and the following Papers read and discussed and widely circulated in the Monthly Journal, UNITED EMPIRE :—

LIBRARY.

17. The additions to the Library number 3,257 books, 2,057 pamphlets, 537 maps, and 231 photographs, making a total of 6,082 additions during the year, compared with 5,465 during 1910. Since the enlargement of the building and the re-arrangement of the Library the ordinary accession of books has been nearly trebled. This has entailed a large amount of extra work upon the Library staff. Of the additions during the past year 4,850 were presented by their authors or publishers, by various learned societies, and by the different Overseas Governments. On December 31st, 1911, the Library contained 84,646 volumes and pamphlets. The newspapers and magazines received at the Library, the majority of which are presented by their publishers, now number 670. During the year 58,200 separate parts were filed. The practice of subsequently sending newspapers to the British Museum for permanent reference has been continued. The re-arrangement of the Library proceeds slowly, owing to the necessity of cataloguing all additions, but the Canadian and general sections have been completed during the year, and the Australian and West Indian sections alone remain to be dealt with. Since the commencement of the card catalogue in April, 1910, 26,000 cards have been written. These represent current literature only, as it has not been found possible to re-catalogue any of the books acquired before the commencement of the card catalogue. The value of the carding system in quickly revealing the literature upon any given topic is demonstrated daily, and it has proved of great assistance both to the staff and to frequenters of the Library. A special effort has been made to interest learned and historical societies in the work of the Library, with the result that many sets of publications have been obtained, especially from the United States. It is desirable that works dealing with the Colonial period of American history, which is intimately connected with Canadian and West Indian history, should find a place on the shelves. A special section of the Library is being formed to cover the period in question. The Indian section has been largely increased during the year. This is due to the sympathetic interest displayed by the India Office and the Imperial and Provincial Administrations in India. The Law Library has been extensively used. During the year the courteous presentation to the Library of the Institute of official publications by the Governments of the Overseas Dominions, Colonies, and India, has been fully maintained. The large number of books sent in for review in UNITED EMPIRE is a valuable asset to the Library, and the Council are greatly indebted to the publishers of such books, as well as to learned societies, the authorities of museums, libraries, and similar institutions, and to private donors.

THE CORONATION.

18. On the occasion of the Coronation the Council presented to their Majesties the King and Queen a Congratulatory Address under the Common Seal of the Institute, to which a gracious reply was received.

19. In connection with the Coronation, Honorary Fellowship of the Institute was extended to the Royal Guests representing the Overseas Dominions, as well as to the Parliamentary representatives, the Officers of the Detachments of Troops, and other distinguished visitors who were not already Fellows of the Institute, during their stay in the United Kingdom. Four hundred invitations to the Conversazione of the Institute were placed at the disposal of the Colonial Troops' Entertainment Committee for distribution.

A series of Entertainments was organised by the Council which enabled the Fellows from Overseas to view some of the principal sights of London during their stay in the Mother Country. By the kind permission of several of the City Companies, Afternoon Receptions were held in their Ancient Halls, when the Plate and other objects of interest were on view. Facilities were afforded by the Governor of the Bank of England for parties to inspect that institution, and a visit was made to Dr. Barnardo's Village at Barkingside. Hospitality was also extended to the Fellows by the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland, who gave a Reception at Stafford House; by the Mayor and Mr. John Waddington, who entertained a large party at Brighton; and by the Council of the Royal Horticultural Society, who issued invitations to a Luncheon preceding the Summer Flower Show. The Hospitality Committee of the Festival of Empire, of which Sir Godfrey Lagden, K.C.M.G., was Chairman, conferred the privileges of Honorary Membership of the Dominions Club at the Crystal Palace upon all Non-Resident Fellows of the Institute, who shared in many of the functions promoted by that Committee.

FORMATION OF BRANCHES.

20. The formation of Branches of the Institute in the Provincial Cities of the United Kingdom has occupied the attention of the Council during the past year, and Regulations have been drawn up for their establishment and administration. A Branch may be constituted, at the discretion of the Council, in any town or district in the United Kingdom upon the requisition of ten or more persons desiring to become Subscribers being sent to the Institute with the name and address of the Honorary Secretary. The principal and immediate work of the Branches will be to organise Lectures for the diffusion of intelligence concerning the Overseas Dominions, Colonies, and India, and to bring together those who desire to aid in the maintenance of Empire Unity. Ladies and gentlemen may become Members of such Branches, and as such are entitled to receive the monthly Journal of the Institute, to attend all the Meetings at which Papers are read or Lectures delivered both locally and in London, and also to receive two invitations to the Annual Conversazione.

DEPUTATIONS.

21. A deputation of the Council waited upon the Prime Minister and the Secretary of State for the Colonies, at the House of Commons, with the object of urging the Government to place upon the Agenda for the Imperial Conference the question of the need for closer Constitutional Union of the Empire. The deputation was introduced by Lieut.-General Sir J. Bevan Edwards, K.C.M.G., C.B., Chairman of Council, and Speeches in support of the subject were delivered by Dr. G. R. Parkin, C.M.G., Hon. Sir John A. Cockburn, M.D., K.C.M.G., Mr. Frederick Dutton, and Sir Westby B. Perceval, K.C.M.G. The Prime Minister expressed his pleasure at receiving the deputation, and undertook to bring to the notice of the Prime Ministers of the Self-Governing Dominions at the Imperial Conference the arguments and representations advanced by the Council of the Institute. A deputation of the Fellows resident in Queensland also waited upon the Prime Minister of the Australian Commonwealth for a similar purpose during his visit to Brisbane.

MEETINGS OF NON-RESIDENT FELLOWS.

22. A Meeting of the Fellows of the Institute resident in Port Elizabeth, South Africa, was held during the past year, at which the Honorary Corresponding Secretary submitted a statement regarding the work now being carried on by the Institute, and the advantage of having Local Centres to keep in touch with the parent institution. The Honorary Corresponding Secretary was requested to communicate with the other centres in South Africa, and ascertain what steps were being taken in order to further the interests of the Institute in their midst, and of the organisation they propose formulating. This action marks the beginning of a movement which, it is hoped, will be followed by the establishment of branches on an extensive scale throughout the Empire.

EMPIRE CLUB OF CANADA.

23. Arrangements have been made with the Empire Club of Canada by which residents of the Dominion may become Non-Resident Fellows of the Royal Colonial Institute and Members of the Empire Club of Canada on being duly proposed and seconded and on payment of fees, which will cover membership of both the Institute and the Club. By this means the Institute will have prominent Centres in Canada where information regarding its work and objects will always be available.

EMPIRE LECTURES.

24. The Illustrated Lectures movement, inaugurated by the Institute, has proved a gratifying success, the lectures having been attended by audiences ranging from a few hundred in small towns to many thousands in the big industrial centres. Opportunity is invariably taken to associate them with this Institute and make known its objects. It is generally acknowledged in the Press and elsewhere that these Lectures provide an excellent means of popular education regarding the responsibilities as well as the resources of the British Empire. Subscriptions were invited from the Fellows and others in order effectively to carry on the work during the past year, and in response to the appeal a sum of £355 was received. This amount has now been exhausted, but the results obtained have been so satisfactory and encouraging that the Council have voted a sum towards continuing the Lectures during the present year. It is hoped that additional funds may be forthcoming to enable the movement to be placed upon a broader basis and carried on with increased energy. The co-operation of the civic authorities in various parts of the United Kingdom has been invited for the purpose of carrying out the necessary local arrangements and stimulating the movement. Mr. W. Herbert Garrison, who has done much to make the Lectures attractive, has been appointed Official Lecturer to the Institute, and if sufficient support is forthcoming it is hoped in due course to organise a staff of lecturers.

EMPIRE TRADE.

25. For some time past the Council has had under consideration the question of identifying itself in a more active manner with the furtherance of Empire Trade and Industrial interests, and a Representative Committee has been formed to carry out the Institute's work in that direction. The work of the Committee includes the arrangement of Industrial Conferences with a view to regulating and co-ordinating Empire Trade conditions, and by means of lectures at the Institute itself, and before the Chambers of Commerce and Trade Bodies throughout the country and in other ways to make more widely known the opportunities that exist in the Overseas Dominions for British Trade and capital, and, on the other hand, to place the British merchant and manufacturer in touch with the sources that are available within the Empire for the supply of raw materials and other products. The work of the Committee has received the support and co-operation of the Governments of the various Dominions and Oversea Possessions, who have undertaken to supply to the Institute their Reports and other documents affecting Empire Trade and Industry.

The following subjects have already engaged the attention of the Committee, and formal Resolutions thereon have been forwarded to the President of the Board of Trade and the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and otherwise dealt with :—

1. Uniformity of Company Law within the Empire.
2. The work of the British Consular Service in regard to Empire Trade.
3. The establishment of Through Bookings of Goods by sea and land from one part of the Empire to another.
4. The issue of popular Handbooks setting forth the resources and trade conditions of the Crown Colonies and dependencies.
5. The necessity of taking some definite action to develop the resources of and British trade with India and the Crown Colonies and Dependencies by the appointment of Trade Commissioners, as has recently been done in the case of the Self-Governing Dominions.

The representations which the Committee have made in connection with some of the foregoing matters have already met with a measure of success. The broadening of the work of the Institute generally in such respects will, in the opinion of the Council, prove of practical value to all concerned in the improvement of Empire Trade and Industry.

CITY LUNCHEONS.

26. In connection with the work of the Empire Trade and Industry Committee, luncheons have been held in the City of London, at which Hon. Sir Newton J. Moore, K.C.M.G., late Premier of Western Australia and now Agent-General for that State; Sir Elliot Lewis, K.C.M.G., Premier of Tasmania; the Hon. Richard K. McBride, K.C., Premier of British Columbia, and the Hon. J. Pelletier, M.D., the first Agent-General for the Province of Quebec, were successively entertained, and expressed their views upon the trade and resources of the spheres they represented.

EMIGRATION.

27. The Standing Committee on Emigration which was constituted as the outcome of a Conference of all Societies interested in Emigration has held periodical meetings throughout the year, which have been presided over by His Grace the Duke of Marlborough, K.G., the Chairman of the Committee. The work accomplished embraces the issue of a Report, which was printed and circulated amongst the delegates to the Imperial Conference, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, the Local Government Board, and the various Societies engaged in Emigration work, and was formally presented by a deputation to the Prime Minister.

The following are the principal recommendations made by the Committee:—

1. That the Imperial Conference should give the fullest consideration to the problems of Emigration within the Empire.
2. That official recognition should be given to the large number of private voluntary societies which are to-day engaged in the work of Emigration in the United Kingdom, and that an Official Committee should be constituted representative of the private emigration societies, to which the Government should nominate a Chairman representative of the chief Departments concerned and other persons having special knowledge of the subject of emigration, and for whose staff and administrative expenses it should pay.
3. That grants in aid should be given to this Official Emigration Committee for distribution to such private societies by per capita grants in approved cases.

Appended to the Report are the recommendations of three Sub-Committees on the subject of the Emigration of (a) Single Men and Families, (b) of Single Women, and (c) of Children. Further attention is being devoted to the question of Child Emigration.

FREEMASONRY.

28. The Council have granted permission for the name of the Institute to be used in connection with the formation of a Lodge of Freemasons, the Membership of which will be confined to Fellows of the Institute. The Lodge has been founded under the title of "The Royal Colonial Institute Lodge," and already has a Membership of 59 Fellows representing all parts of the Empire. His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, the President of the Institute, has consented to become the First Master.

EDUCATION CONFERENCE.

29. The Institute was officially represented on the occasion of the Imperial Education Conference of 1911 by Dr. G. R. Parkin, C.M.G., a Member of the Council. Resolutions were passed which will, in the opinion of the Council, be of permanent benefit to the Co-ordination of Education throughout the Empire.

AUSTRALASIAN SECTION.

30. The Council has sanctioned the formation of an Australasian Section, which meets at the Institute on the first Thursday in each month, and which not only provides a centre where visitors from that part of the Empire can meet their fellow-countrymen, but enables those resident in the United Kingdom to keep in touch with matters of interest in Australasia. At each Meeting questions relating to Australasia are informally discussed.

FESTIVAL OF EMPIRE.

31. With a view to contributing towards the success of the Festival of Empire the Council granted the use of the Council Room of the Institute for the Meetings of the Special Committees dealing with Canada, Australasia, and South Africa, and also gave special prominence to all notices regarding the Festival in the columns of UNITED EMPIRE as well as on the Notice Board in the Rooms of the Institute. A special exhibit, consisting of rare and curious Books and Maps lent by the Institute, was on view in the Australian Court. The Institute was represented on the Executive Committee by Lieut.-General Sir J. Bevan Edwards, K.C.M.G., C.B., and by Sir Godfrey Lagden, K.C.M.G.

HONORARY CORRESPONDING SECRETARIES.

32. The thanks of the Council are tendered to the Honorary Corresponding Secretaries for the assistance they have gratuitously rendered in spreading a better knowledge of the objects and scope of the Institute in their respective spheres of work. In order to make the work of the Institute better known in all parts of the Empire the number of Honorary Corresponding Secretaries has been considerably increased, with the result that representation has been secured in the leading cities of the Overseas Dominions and Colonies. A complete list of the Honorary Corresponding Secretaries appears in each issue of the Journal. It is contemplated during the ensuing year to extend the system of Corresponding Secretaries to the provinces and centres of population in the United Kingdom.

"UNITED EMPIRE."

33. The monthly Journal, UNITED EMPIRE, disseminates information on Colonial and Imperial questions amongst the Fellows, and through them reaches a much wider audience. It has been enlarged and efforts to improve it are constantly being made. The new cover, improved paper, and increased number of illustrations and maps, are signs of an intention to give the Journal an attractive appearance. By arrangements now made it will be possible to invite more frequently the co-operation of well-known writers; but this will not interfere with the supply of contributions from Overseas Fellows, whose personal knowledge and observation give a special quality to their letters and articles and help to render this Journal unique both in range of subject and in actuality of treatment. Under the skilled editorship of Mr. Archibald Colquhoun it has become one of the most efficient agencies for extending the influence of the Institute and expressing its views.

HOURS OF OPENING.

34. In response to representations made to the Council, the Institute is now open at 9.30 A.M., instead of 10 A.M., daily, and will in future be closed at 10 P.M., instead of 8 P.M., except Sundays and Bank Holidays.

YEAR BOOK.

35. The Council have decided to issue a Year Book, containing full information regarding the work and progress of the Institute; a sketch of its history; the constitution of the various special Committees; an account of the Library and Newspaper Room; the Annual Report and Statement of Accounts, and Lists of Fellows alphabetically and geographically arranged. The Year Book will be forwarded to every Fellow, both Resident and Non-Resident, as well as to the Lady Associates.

INFORMATION BUREAU.

36. The special facilities which the Institute possesses for imparting information on subjects regarding the history, trade, government, &c., of all parts of the Empire are becoming widely known, with the result that a large number of inquiries are now received and dealt with.

37. In congratulating the Fellows on the satisfactory condition of the Institute, the Council rely upon their co-operation and active support in furthering with increased vigour the cause of Imperial unity and fostering the growth of patriotic sentiment throughout His Majesty's dominions.

J. BEVAN EDWARDS,
Chairman of Council.

JAMES R. BOOSÉ,
Secretary.

The notice convening the meeting having been read, the minutes of the last Annual General Meeting were read and approved. The Report and Statement of Accounts were taken as read.

The CHAIRMAN : I regret to say that yesterday morning I had a letter from the Hon. Treasurer, Sir Montagu Ommanney, stating that, principally for family reasons, he felt obliged to resign the office which he had held for twenty-four years.

As he is not able to attend here to-day, I will, in the first place, make a few remarks on the Statement of Receipts and Payments which has been presented to you in the Report of the Council. The year which ended on the 31st December 1911 is the first completed year that we have been in occupation of the new building, as we moved into it just before Christmas in 1910. We are now able to take stock of our position, and compare our expenses with those incurred in the old building which we had occupied for twenty-six years. The expenditure has, of course, considerably increased, not only on account of the extension of premises, but also on account of the additional work we have undertaken. Fortunately, the increase in the number of our Fellows has enabled us to meet the increased cost and still have a substantial balance in hand.

For the purpose of comparing the expenditure last year with that incurred when we were in the old building, it is necessary to make a comparison with that of the year 1909 instead of 1910, in which year we had to vacate the building for six months, during its reconstruction. Additional expenditure has been incurred in every item, but these additions are small, except in the three items, Salaries, Pensions and Wages, the Journal, and Rates and Taxes.

The increase in the first, viz. salaries, pensions and wages, is £557, chiefly owing to extra clerical assistance and an increase of the household staff. The cost of the Journal, after deducting £847 received for advertisements and sales, amounts to £865, as compared with £553 for 1909. This, however, is not a fair comparison. The Journal for 1911 is made up of twelve monthly numbers and has also been greatly enlarged, whereas the Journal for 1909 consists of only eight monthly numbers. The increase of rates and taxes, of £348, due to the enlarged building, speaks for itself. Altogether, the increases amount to £1,770 over that of 1909. Under the head of Receipts the amount from Fellows' subscriptions is £7,633 for the year 1911 against £5,421 for 1909, leaving a balance of £2,212 in favour of this year. Included in the £7,633 Fellows' subscriptions is the sum of £1,141 for compounding life subscriptions. It has hitherto been the custom to treat the amount received under this head as annual income. Up to 1906 this may have been justifiable, because the amount derived from this source was used in aid of the repayment of the £55,000 which was the cost of the site and the erection of the building in Northumberland Avenue. Now that the debt has been paid off, the amount received from compounded subscriptions will be placed to a reserve fund and invested, instead of being treated as annual income. To make a beginning, the Council have set aside £250 this year, and it is hoped that if our income continues to increase we may add considerably to this sum before the end of the year, and that, in future, it may be possible to place the whole of the money derived from this source to the credit of this fund.

The Annual Report of the Council deals so fully with the work of the past year that I will only call your attention to a few of the subjects mentioned in it. In Paragraph 10, His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught is nominated for re-election as President. As His Royal Highness is now Governor-General of Canada the Council decided to create a new appointment—that of Vice-Patron of the Institute—which His Royal Highness has done us the honour to accept: the reason for this I will explain to you later on. Little has yet been done to carry out the important proposal to establish local centres mentioned in Paragraph 20, although it has been under the consideration of the Council for some considerable time. This is due to the impossibility of carrying out new work until our staff is increased. The present staff is barely sufficient to carry out the ordinary routine work of the Institute, much less to undertake the formation of Local Branches—an undertaking which will absorb the whole of one man's time.

The affiliation of the Empire Club of Canada with the Royal Colonial Institute, as described in Paragraph 23, which has been carried out during the past year, is a work of the greatest importance, as, through it, we shall be able to greatly increase the circulation of our Journal, free of cost to the Institute.

Both the Empire Trade Committee and the Emigration Committee are continuing to do good and useful work, the former under the Chairmanship of Mr. Ben H. Morgan, one of our Councillors, and the latter under one of our Vice-Presidents, the Duke of Marlborough. It may be mentioned that these Committees mark a new departure in our work—a work which may be gradually extended to other important Imperial subjects.

Among other new departures is the formation of an Australian section of the Institute, the appointment of Honorary Corresponding Secretaries in the United Kingdom, and the issue of a Year Book to every Fellow of the Institute. This latter work has been compiled by the Secretary, and will be issued to the Fellows in the course of a few days.

Let me briefly put before you the history of the Institute. It was founded in 1868, with Lord Bury as its first President, and was supported by the leading statesmen of the day, of both political parties. Gradually it increased its membership, which, however, did not reach 1,000 till twelve years after its foundation. Lord Bury was succeeded as President, in 1871, by the Duke of Manchester, a position he held for seven years, when he was succeeded by His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales as President in 1878, when the Duke of Manchester was appointed Chairman of the Council, which position he held till the day of his death in 1890. In 1882 a Royal Charter was granted, and during the following year the site for the Institute's building was acquired. In the year 1884 the building was completed and occupied. They were bold men on the Council at that time, and they had so great a confidence in the future of the Institute that they did not hesitate, with a membership of barely 2,000 and an income of £3,600, to raise a sum of £30,020 for the purchase of the site and to expend nearly £25,000 on the erection of the building. It is interesting to recall the fact that no one advocated this course more strongly than Sir Frederick Young, who was at that time the Honorary Secretary and a member of the Council. The success of the undertaking is in a great measure due to him. The loan was repaid in June 1906, and the site and building are now the absolute property of the Fellows.

From the time that the Duke of Manchester resigned the position of President to the present time, viz. thirty-four years, the Institute has never had a Working President, because the Prince of Wales, who succeeded the Duke of Manchester, could not, from the nature of his position, be expected to carry out the duties of that office. After the death of the Duke of Manchester in 1890, the Institute was carried on for nineteen years by the Council and its Secretary, without any assistance from either a President or Chairman of Council, with the result that it only added 771 members to its Fellowship in those nineteen years. In 1909 a Special General Meeting of the Fellows of the Institute was called, in response to a requisition of twenty-five of its Fellows, "to consider the revision of the constitution of the Institute, with special reference to making the Council more representative." The result of this meeting was to bring about what has been called the revival movement. If you look at the Table in Paragraph 7 of the Annual Report you will be able to see the result of this movement which, however, only began to be felt in the last quarter of 1909; therefore the increase of members and income, up to the end of 1911, actually took place in a little over two years. The net increase in membership in this time has been 1,171. To arrive at the increase of income you must deduct from the income of £7,203 in 1908 the rent received from the Admiralty, amounting to £1,425, which gives a net income for that year of £5,778. The difference between this and the income of £8,597 for 1911 shows an increase of £2,819. This increase, in these twenty-seven months, of 1,171 members and £2,819 in income, is actually greater than the increase which took place in the previous twenty-one years.

I would ask you to consider for a moment the objects for which a Royal Charter was granted to the Institute:

First: it was to establish a place of meeting for its Fellows, with a library, museum, etc.

Second: to promote the increase and diffusion of knowledge of the Empire.

Third: the preservation of a permanent union between the Mother Country and the various parts of the Empire.

The first of these objects has long been fulfilled by the building in Northumberland

Avenue. The second we are carrying out to the full extent of our resources, and we hope, as these resources continue to increase, we shall be able to do more in this direction. These two objects are, however, solely for the purpose of preparing the way for the accomplishment of the third object, laid down in our Charter, viz. "the preservation of the unity of the Empire"; and it must never be forgotten that it was solely for this object that the Institute was called into existence. I wish to emphasise this as much as possible, as there seems to be a tendency on the part of some of our Fellows to consider that the first two objects which I have mentioned are the chief and only work before us.

Among the Royal Societies which exist in this country, the Royal Colonial Institute is the only one which has a great political object to accomplish. No one will deny that that object—the promotion of the closer union of the Empire—is the greatest political question of the day. It is one far above all the party politics of the different parts of the Empire, and therefore it is one in which all British subjects can join in carrying out.

Now as to what our policy should be in the immediate future. We must continue to strengthen and improve our organisation in every way:

(a) To begin with, we require a working president to give us the benefit of his advice and assistance in the policy we should carry out.

(b) We also require a working council. The Council consists of sixty-three Fellows, and includes a President, thirty-eight Vice-Presidents and twenty-four Councillors, all elected by the Fellows. Six of the Vice-Presidents are non-resident and therefore unable to attend, and most of the others, and also the Councillors, are busy men and, of course, find it difficult or impossible to attend the meetings regularly.

(c) We must therefore throw more responsibility upon the different Committees, and perfect them in every possible way, because it is only through these Committees that the work of the Institute can be carried out. A good deal has lately been done to strengthen them by the appointment of Fellows outside the Council, who have a large experience of the work to be done by the Committee to which they are appointed. We have also adopted a system of permanent Chairmen to each of these Committees, and thereby rendered them much more efficient.

It must be remembered that a Council, however eminent its members may be, do not initiate matters for discussion, or, as a rule, propose new departures. In its working it is essentially conservative, and therefore, if progress is to be made, any new movements tending to that end are much better worked out by small Committees who submit the result of their labours to the consideration of a Council. This creates a system of decentralisation which is so absolutely necessary for success, provided, of course, that it is subject to the general control of a central authority, which in this case would be the Council.

(d) Every effort must be made to increase our membership, and with it our income. After all it is the Fellows themselves who can do more in this matter than our Corresponding Secretaries or the Staff of the Institute; and we take this opportunity of appealing to all of you here to-day, and also to every Fellow throughout the Empire, to assist us to increase our membership. If each one of you will resolve to use your utmost endeavour to propose only one Fellow for election during the year, we shall double our Fellows and our income, and do as much in this present year to advance the interests of the Institute as we have done during the whole of the forty-three years of its existence.

(e) There is another and most important step which I think ought, if possible, to be taken. In moving the adoption of the Report last year I called to your notice a proposal—originally made by Lord Grey when presiding at the annual dinner ten years ago—that we should associate with us all those who are unable to afford so high a subscription as £2 a year, in addition to the entrance fee of £3, and by this means draw to our ranks the many thousands of Imperial men who, under present conditions, are unable to join us in our great work. This could be done by opening the new order of Associates to men as well as ladies, and on the same conditions.

(f) Two years ago your attention was called to the unsuitability of our present title of “Colonial Institute,” and it was suggested that “United Empire Institute” would express more clearly the aims and objects of the Institute. The Council have not, so far, been able to take any definite steps in the matter, but the question is of such importance that it ought to be decided with as little delay as possible. As it is, India, one of the most important parts of the Empire, is practically beyond the scope of our work, and where we ought and could have hundreds of Fellows we now only have forty-seven! Nor does the title appeal to the Dominions, nor to the great majority of the British race scattered throughout the world, such as those in the Argentine Republic—where we already have forty-three Fellows—and other foreign countries.

It would appear that the Institute has reached a critical period of its history, and it is for you now to decide our future policy—whether we are to be content with the success which has lately attended our efforts, and merely continue to increase our Fellowship—possibly at the rate of a few hundreds annually—or whether we should take a bold step forward and carry out the policy I have outlined, and, while still continuing to increase our numbers by every means in our power, we should make an effort to carry out the suggestion of Lord Grey, and draw to our ranks the many thousands of men throughout the Empire, and especially those in the United Kingdom, who are in sympathy with our cause. Should you decide upon this latter course the Institute ought to become a great political power, well fitted to fulfil the mission for which it was established.

If this, then, is your wish and desire we must, through the agency of our Local Centres and by every other means we can bring to our assistance, push our propaganda into every part of the United Kingdom, until we obtain an influence so great that the question of the preservation of the unity of the Empire will become the leading problem of the day. We know that it is here, in the heart of the Empire, that the subject has not yet been brought home to the people, but notwithstanding the apathy which is so apparent the signs of the times are hopeful. We know that the self-governing Dominions are ready to meet any advance of the Mother Country in this direction, and we also know that last year no less than 280 Members of Parliament, embracing all shades of party politics, showed their sympathy with our cause by urging the Prime Minister to bring the subject of the closer constitutional union of the Empire before the late Imperial Conference. Surely, then, all this should be an incentive to us to go forward in the realisation of our great ideal—the Unity of the Empire.

I have to-day received the following letter from Sir Charles Bruce :

Arnot Tower, Leslie, Fife.

March 4, 1912.

DEAR SIR BEVAN EDWARDS,—I much regret to be unable to attend the Annual Meeting of the Institute to be held to-morrow. While I have read with great satisfaction the Report of the Council I cannot help thinking that the success of the recent scheme of reorganisation suggests that the time has come for further development. The return of Earl Grey from Canada has naturally reminded us of his appeal to the Institute ten years ago at the Annual Dinner of 1902. He expressed his desire to see the operative classes of the Empire drawn into association with the Institute, and contributing their share towards the realisation of its inspiring ideals. He suggested that, whereas the Institute had at that time an income of about £7,000 and a Fellowship of about 4,000 members, a new order of association, with a small subscription, might result in an income of £70,000 and a membership running into hundreds of thousands. The Annual Report indicates the method by which Earl Grey's proposal may be carried out. The action taken by the Fellows of the Institute in South Africa is leading to the establishment of Local Centres, to be organised by our Corresponding Secretaries, and kept in touch with the Parent Institute. All that has to be done, is to encourage our Corresponding Secretaries throughout the Empire to organise Local Centres or Branches, on conditions of association, in respect of subscriptions and other matters, adapted to local circumstances. The movement would be strengthened by the formation of branches similarly organised within the United Kingdom.

With the renewed expression of my regret that I cannot be present with you to-morrow.

Believe me,

Yours sincerely,

(Signed) CHAS. BRUCE.

Professor ANDERSON STUART (Sydney) : Coming back to London at long intervals, as unfortunately I am only able to do, I am enabled to measure the progress of the Institute in a way which would, perhaps, hardly be open to people who live nearer the heart of the Empire ; and, coming after an absence of eight years, I can sincerely congratulate the Institute upon the very manifest progress which has been made in every department. The increased membership is, of course, extremely gratifying : it shows that a working Chairman is a very good thing—that he is a kind of motive force—a man who drives things along. And if we can always secure such men as our present Chairman I feel sure the Institute will go on at an increased rate of progress. One of the objects of the Institute that has been mentioned, namely, the preservation of the unity of the Empire, appeals to me far more strongly, perhaps, than its other objects do. To Australia the question of a permanency of the union of the various parts of the Empire is really a serious matter. It is for that reason I have taken a deep interest in the matter of immigration into Australia, and emigration from the United Kingdom. The Institute has an Emigration Committee to whose labours we undoubtedly owe a great deal, but from which we have to expect a great deal more ; for when you think that Australia is a great continent which is almost unpeopled (in the northern half quite), when you think that there are 330,000,000 acres and only a few million white people, you will agree that thing is ridiculous. There are, of course, bad patches in Australia as anywhere else, but there are enormous tracts of fertile lands well fitted to be the home of a working white race. At the same time, all around the fringe of Australia we are surrounded by people of colour, who, if it were not for the British Navy, would very soon invade Australia. Emigration is not an easy matter. It is not so much the difficulty of getting the men, because the British Islands still have a surplus of 400,000 emigrants per annum. The difficulty at the moment is getting the ships to carry them. I received only a day or two ago advices from Sydney, stating that a private donor there has given £6,000 to bring out 1,000 medically fit men between the ages of twenty and forty-five to work in Australia. He has stipulated that they shall land before the 30th June. Enquiry has been made of the shipping companies in London, and they tell the British Immigration League, of which I am President, that they cannot carry the men ; but that if we could get our donor to postpone the date to the 31st August they might be able to manage it. He has consented to postpone it to the 31st July, but I hope we shall be able to get him to agree to the 31st August. The Committee of the Institute might help us very much by predisposing the shipping people to co-operate in the matter. I will read just one extract from a leader in the Sydney Morning Herald respecting this offer :

It reveals very clearly, for one thing, that the frequent statement as to the need of men for the work to be done in all directions here, is no empty assertion. If private enterprise is so anxious for 1,000 men as to be prepared to assist their passages to Sydney, private enterprise wants them pretty badly. . . . As to the need of the men here, it goes without saying. The proposal itself is eloquent in that regard. The demand for labour is an insistent and an increasing cry. The available shipping accommodation is already crowded by British immigrants to Australia, and thousands who are clamouring for a home in this country cannot be shipped.

You may say, why introduce this matter so markedly ? For this reason : unless Australia be made strong, Australia is a weakness to the Empire, for the Empire stands pledged to protect Australia. We have now universal service there. I beg leave to say I hope we will have it here very soon. It is, I think, a credit to the Party now in power that the present Federal Government has been most assiduous, Minister after Minister, in bringing universal military service into being. I have seen it in operation. My own sons are carrying their muskets to-day, and being trained to arms. It is only when Australia, with its comparatively small number of people, has its manhood so trained that you can feel at all safe. I beg to second the motion for the adoption of the Report and Statement of Accounts.

Sir FREDERICK YOUNG, K.C.M.G. : I desire to make one or two observations on the admirable address which the Chairman has just delivered. There is one point to which I would specially draw attention, and which I hope will be carried out thoroughly in the way he suggests : it is with regard to the future policy of the Institute—policy in many respects, no doubt, entailing more effort and expense, but which is absolutely necessary, in my opinion, in order to give full efficiency to the great work in which we are engaged. This is the conclusion of the forty-third year of the Institute's existence, and I am, as you know, one of the original members ; and I may be allowed to say that the inspiration which, from the first, I felt with regard to the Institute was that we should pursue the policy which year by year, and bit by bit we have been able to carry out with such efficiency and success. I was Honorary Secretary for twelve years, during which time I was a great deal younger than I am now, and full of enthusiasm for the cause ; and I was able to persuade my colleagues to go on in that direction, with the result we now see. I therefore wish to emphasise what the Chairman has said : namely, that you must undertake (what we always intended to undertake) the great things that are before us.

Mr. F. B. VROOMAN, B.Sc. (Oxon.), Ph.D. (British Columbia) : I am a rather new-comer not only in the Institute, but in the Empire ; and if I say a serious word to you, and seem somewhat officious, I hope you will remember that I have got to make up for some lost time. There are some advantages and some disadvantages in a distant view. Over yonder, on the Pacific Coast, we cannot see the details of the situation as plainly as you can ; but, on the other hand, there may be some compensation in the matter of perspective, and I think I am able to see some things pretty clearly with regard to your situation here. I have no hesitation in saying, here and now, that, looked at from that point of view, there is no movement in the British Empire to-day which is more important or more promising than that of this Institute. I have been much impressed by the words of my fellow-member from Australia, because in every sense of the word our situation out yonder is exactly what is his in the Southern Sea ; it is part of the new great Pacific Question, and I hope there will be those of us who will be able, somehow, and somewhere, to call your attention to the seriousness of the situation that confronts Australia and British Columbia on the New Pacific to-day. The Chairman has outlined some plans for the future, and those plans are large enough and strong enough for any work you may have in hand. One of the first is the educational propaganda. That is the forerunner of organisation always. I have been wondering whether there cannot be some means of getting your Journal more before the outside world. I have no hesitation in saying that that Journal is the most useful magazine in the Empire to-day. It seems a great waste of opportunity that this splendid compendium of Imperial thought and ideals is put into the hands merely of the 5,500 members of the Institute who believe every word of the Journal already. We have read of One who came into the world to bring not the righteous, but sinners to repentance—and some steps ought to be taken to put the Journal into the hands of hundreds and thousands of people in the Empire and prepare their minds on the subject. I do not know that I can do better than read to you the interesting words which fell from one than whom there has been no wiser or kindlier statesman in our country of Canada. Speaking at the annual dinner of the Institute in 1902, Earl Grey said :—

I hope I may be permitted to make the suggestion that you would be adding to your strength and to the power of carrying out your ideals if you would extend your membership to those who are unable to afford so high a subscription as £2 a year in addition to the entrance fee of £3. . . . I am not proposing you should extend the Club privileges of the Institute to those who pay a smaller subscription than is at present contributed by your Fellows ; but I do say that it would be wise to harness to your chariot the big heart and collective strength of the operative classes of the Empire, and, by offering to all terms of membership which shall be within the reach of the poorest wage-earner, to enable every imperial-minded artisan to enrol himself as an Associate of the Colonial Institute, and thus contribute his share towards the realisation of your inspiring ideals . . . I should like you to be able to say to them “enrol yourselves in the Army of the Empire as members of the Colonial Institute. . . .” The Institute has now an income of about £7,000, and a fellowship of over 4,000. Add a new order of Associates to your organisation, and, if you display sufficient recruiting energy, you will have an income of £70,000 or more, and the membership running into hundreds of thousands. Is it too much to hope that £100,000 might be raised by the Colonial Institute every year to increase the civilising power of the British Empire ?

This was ten years ago, recollect.

In my opinion these words ought to be the slogan of the Institute. I am not myself an optimist ; there is an element of fatalism in optimism which I much distrust, because it leads us to lean too much on false securities. It is the philosophy of life which locks the stable door after the horse is stolen, or (to adopt a more present illustration) which walls up your windows after the suffragettes have gone by. I am an optimistic pessimist, but I have hope large enough to believe that there are hundreds of thousands of good enough men in this Empire to become members of the Institute and take part in its work. It is something which must be done. The time has come for us to face the situation. The world is full of dissension and strife and anarchy. It is time for those who love law and order to get together and organise their forces ; and I do not know who is able to do that if this Institute will not. The suggestion of Lord Grey with respect to bringing in the wage-earners of the Empire is peculiarly interesting to me, because I believe that every ideal of Imperialism should be devoid of any class-feeling or class-distinction. I believe there are a great many of the wage-earners of Great Britain—and not only in this country, but abroad—who are thorough good patriots and Imperialists at heart. It seems to me the time has come to organise these forces and to bring them in. There is no man in the Empire who more than the wage-earner ought to be an Imperialist, because the status of Western labour—indeed, the continued existence of Western industry upon the earth—depends, in my opinion, upon the integrity and force of this Empire to protect it. It is because of these considerations I should like to suggest that we, in our part of the world, will support heartily in every way we can any attempt to establish centres in the different counties or provinces, with subsidiary organisations in the capitals, perhaps, of all the nations within the Empire, and with strong councils and efficient working secretaries to organise the work. I should like to see the work of this Institute go on in that kind of way, synthesising and getting together all the Imperial sentiment and ideals and forces of the Empire.

The CHAIRMAN: What I said to-day was prepared long before I knew that Earl Grey would be present with us. It seems a sort of dispensation of Providence that he should have come at this time, and the omen I am sure is a good one.

Earl GREY, G.C.B., G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O.: I have no hesitation whatever in saying this is by far and away the best annual meeting of the Institute I have ever attended. It has been a real treat to me to come back and find this note of vigour and confidence and resolution to do something which appears to animate this meeting. I congratulate you on having secured so good a working Chairman, whose speech I heard with delight. It sketched out a bold and vigorous programme, and encouraged us all to believe that the Council under his guidance is prepared to make good every hope he encouraged us to entertain. I congratulate the Institute also on the vigorous and youthful presence of Sir Frederick Young. Here he is as young as ever, although he was at the meetings of the Institute more than forty years ago, and I hope he may be here seven years hence when we celebrate the jubilee. I have to thank you for the great compliment you paid me in entertaining me at the magnificent banquet on my return from Canada. No greater reward could be given to any mortal man than was given to me on that occasion. I congratulate you on the Report, on the extension of the Library, the increase of Fellows, the growth of income, and the resolve to establish provincial branches; to have lectures on trade matters with the object of diffusing the knowledge of the Empire in every part of the Kingdom, and to provide opportunities for the increase of inter-imperial trade. All this is good, but I think the time has come when the Institute should focus its attention not on the people of Great Britain, but on the people of Greater Britain.

It is very pleasant to be re-echoed by British Columbia: Mr. Vrooman quoted a speech made by me some ten years ago. I hold that faith just as ardently to-day—if not more ardently, now that I have had greater experience of the requirements of Greater Britain. How are you to increase the work of the Institute across the seas? I certainly agree that you will have to alter your name. The Colonial Institute is not a good name, if you wish to increase your membership in our Overseas Dominions. I do not think I have ever once, during the seven years I was in Canada, referred to Canada as a Colony, or to Canadians as Colonials. That day has gone past; and if you wish the Institute to be a living factor—as I hope it may be in the home of every family in our self-governing Dominions—you have got to change your name, and substitute some other term for “Colonial.” Whether you call the Institute the United Empire Institute or simply the British Institute, or the Imperial Institute remains to be settled. Another thing you have to do is to bring your publications—especially the admirable Journal of the Institute—within the reach of the operative classes of this country and beyond the seas. Why not have members—ordinary members—whom you would admit to the right of receiving your publications at a price which would cover the cost of printing and postage? I believe that if the Council carry out the policy indicated to-day, and you introduce members with no other rights but that of receiving your Journal, instead of having a fellowship of 5,500, you would have a membership very soon of half a million! I heard a laugh when I referred to the possibility of this Institute ever being called the Imperial Institute. I suppose that meant you did not want to be in any way associated with the Institution at Kensington. Well, they are doing the same work as you are, and when the University of London, in pursuance of the recommendation of the Royal Commission, leaves that building, I hope you will be able to see a more vigorous policy, on exactly the same lines as your own, from the building erected out of money subscribed by the self-governing Dominions in memory of the late Queen. I again congratulate you on the admirable work the Institute is doing, and on the bold policy put before you to-day; and I feel quite confident, from what I have seen in Canada, that if you can institute a membership with a subscription just large enough to cover printing and postage expenses for your publications, you will be able to associate with this historic Institute a membership which will add to the strength of the Empire.

Attention was called to the procedure connected with ad interim appointments to the Council by the Hon. A. P. Matheson.

Captain CHARLES SLACK emphasised Mr. Vrooman's remarks on the subject of the Journal. The Institute was thoroughly identified with the Journal, and every penny that they could afford would be wisely spent upon it. If we only had the advantages of the Canadian magazine post to other parts of the Empire, the benefit to the Institute would be very great indeed. He would like to see the Journal enlarged with maps and other illustrations, and he further suggested that, as was done by the Royal Geographical Society, when a lecture was delivered on any particular part of the Empire, each member of the audience should be furnished with a small map of the country in question.

Hon. Mr. JUSTICE ARCHER MARTIN (British Columbia) entirely agreed that the present name of the Institute was a bar and a stumbling-block, and could not appeal to the people of the Empire generally. The title "Colonial" was at the present day absolutely out of place. A valuable precedent was set by the Imperial Conference, which formerly called itself the "Colonial" Conference.

Dr. G. R. PARKIN, C.M.G.: The Royal Colonial Institute has a history of forty-three years. Its name has got wonderfully worked into the affections of great numbers of people. It was used in perfect good faith in the early days. It meant a great deal, and people have grown up with the feeling that the Institute did represent the Colonies better than any other Institution in this country. Now we are going through a great national revolution. The Great Dominions have taken their place in the Imperial system, and people naturally do not feel the word "Colony" applies in the same way as formerly. But those who speak in this way must remember this Institute does represent a large number of communities which are Colonies still and can scarcely be ever anything else. We have discussed this matter in the Council, and tried to look at it from every side. I think the prevailing feeling is that we should scarcely take such a step, as that suggested, without consulting old Fellows of the Institute, and pointing out the reasons for the change—that we ought not, in fact, to make any sudden change of name without consulting those who have a right to be consulted in such a matter. I believe myself, thoroughly, we should improve our position if we fixed upon the name “United Empire,” or something of that kind. But on the other hand, there is no need to do this in a great hurry; and I am inclined to feel we should have a sort of referendum of Fellows in all parts of the world, coupled with a little statement concerning the changed condition and as to how we hope to make the Institute more effective. I think such a step would be advisable, and then nobody would be offended. On another subject, let me say that the progress made in the last two years has been quite phenomenal in our history. It has become evident that we centralise in this Institute a great national movement in every part of the world, and that we are best fitted to do that. But at the same time the Institute has got to be more progressive, aggressive, and energetic than in the past. There is the greatest need for the bold, strong, vigorous policy outlined for the future. We have had a career in the past, but I have no doubt we have a larger career in the future. I do not suppose this nation was ever in a more critical state than now. It looks very much as if we were closing one era and opening another. I do not believe any democratic change which is going on in this country, although a matter for anxiety, affects in the least degree the question of the unity of the Empire. It is a profoundly searching question whether these vast democracies—using their will in the way democracies do: now obstinately for their own purposes, selfishly sometimes, generously sometimes—are going to be able to wield the affairs of a great Empire as they have been wielded in the past by a more aristocratic or a more centralised organisation. But, whatever comes, this Institute has got to meet the circumstances of the nation and the people who belong to it. We have to “educate our masters” up to the position, and for that reason there was never a period when this Institute ought to make a more aggressive attempt to teach the real necessities of the Empire. The question is how we are going to reach those great masses who seem to be the controlling power outside. The necessity becomes greater, and that is the reason why we should do all we possibly can in this Institute by keeping up our Journal, for instance (effective as it has been made under Mr. Colquhoun’s care), and in other ways, such as have been indicated to-day. Therefore, let this meeting be one of those inspiring days, when we all resolve we will try our best to improve the work of the Institute and to think out new plans, and I am sure, as a member of the Council, that any member who comes with suggestions or ideas, or anything which will improve or strengthen the Institute, will find a ready welcome from the Chairman and the Council.

Colonel H. E. RAWSON, C.B., said he wished to express his gratitude to the Council, which he believed was shared by many of the Fellows, and he knew was felt by a large number of the general public, for their efforts on behalf of emigration. The subject was one of imperial interest, and it was of the highest importance that it should be brought prominently to the notice of our Dominions and Colonies by a body possessing their confidence. The Institute had no axe to grind in this matter. It was known to be working for the advantage of the Empire, and many of those who would have to consider any scheme that might be drawn up for furthering emigration within the Empire were already Fellows of the Institute. It was impossible to view the existing social state of our country with satisfaction. An excess of a million females over males, the standing lack of employment with all the misery that this entails, and the fact that 33,000 orphan, deserted, and adopted children are in the hands of the Poor Law Guardians of the country, are not matters to be lightly passed over and allowed to settle themselves. To an ever-increasing majority emigration presents one of the means of bettering the state of affairs, and it was a great inspiration on the part of the Council to bring together in conference the whole of the societies engaged in emigration, and then to form a standing committee to whose proposals the Institute could lend the weight of its authority. Colonel Rawson considered that to the Council was due a hearty vote of thanks for its action in this matter, and he wished them every success.

The Report was adopted.

Mr. FREDERICK DUTTON moved the following alteration in Rule 43 :—

That the following words commencing on line 4 of Rule 43 be deleted :—"For the following year but shall not hold such office for more than two consecutive years."

Rule 43 at present reads :—

The President, when present, presides at all Meetings of the Council and of the Fellows. The Council shall annually elect a Chairman of the Council, who shall hold office for one year, and shall be eligible for re-election for the following year, but shall not hold such office for more than two consecutive years, and shall preside in the absence of the President. In the absence of the President, and of the Chairman of Council, one of the Vice-Presidents, or one of the Members of the Council, shall supply the place of the President or Chairman of Council.

It had been said that what the Institute wanted was a working Chairman. They had one at the present moment in the person of Sir J. Bevan Edwards, and the Council were anxious to keep him. In the old days they had a permanent but not a working Chairman, and that not answering very satisfactorily, the Council for many years went on the basis of having a different member to preside at each of its meetings. It was obviously impossible under these circumstances to have a working Chairman, and in times of emergency the Secretary was placed in a difficult position in having no one with whom he could consult. It was partly owing to that circumstance, perhaps, that the administration of the Institute came to require a little waking up, and some three years ago they were wakened up ; and one of the results was the adoption of a new set of rules. Under Rule 43 the Council elected annually a Chairman, Sir Bevan Edwards being the first. He was the representative of the Council in the inquiries before the Committee that brought about the new arrangements, and was brimful of knowledge in the matter of initiating further directions for enterprise. So satisfactory did the Council find the procedure under his chairmanship that they unanimously elected him a second time. Then came the trouble under Rule 43, and so the members were asked last year to suspend the operation of the rule so that he might be re-elected. The Council were very desirous that he should continue in office. In his address he had indicated ideas which were his own and which were what one expected from a working Chairman. A working Chairman was constantly in attendance at the Institute, thinking of methods in which the work could be improved, and bringing before the Council a variety of matters, so that he was a very important member indeed of the administrative body. The Council could, of course, have asked the meeting to accept a suspension of the rule as they did last year, but the matter had been discussed and he for one entertained a very strong objection to that procedure. Indeed, he had doubts as to whether that was a legal way of dealing with the matter. He wished to take this opportunity of expressing his personal admiration of the energy and enthusiasm which Sir J. Bevan Edwards had thrown into his work and from which the Institute had derived the greatest possible advantage. It was the feeling of the Council, and he hoped of the Fellows also, that he should continue to carry on the good work which was now really only at its beginning. If the time should come when the present Chairman felt it necessary to resign the Council had a very efficient understudy in the person of Sir Godfrey Lagden, who, he felt confident, would discharge the duties with ability and zeal.

SIR GODFREY LAGDEN, K.C.M.G., seconded the motion.

Hon. A. P. MATHESON, who explained that he was discussing the matter simply as one of policy and not from any personal point of view, reminded the meeting that these rules were adopted after much consideration only three years ago, and the Committee who considered them came to the conclusion that one of the most essential things was that there should not be the same stereotyping of membership of the Council as there had been in the past. It was, therefore, settled that one-eighth of the Council should retire and should not be eligible for re-election, and also that the Chairman should hold office for one year, but be eligible for two, the latter limit being a sine qua non. In his opinion every member of the Council should feel that he was in a position to look forward to holding the office in rotation. For these and other reasons he most strongly deprecated the proposed alteration.

Hon. Sir JOHN COCKBURN, K.C.M.G., urged that, as the Fellows had taken steps to provide themselves with a vigorous Council, the Council could be trusted to take steps to provide themselves with a vigorous Chairman.

Mr. A. MOOR-RADFORD reminded the meeting that during a critical state of affairs, Sir J. Bevan Edwards had carried the ship vigorously onwards. In his opinion to make any change now in the man at the helm, contrary to the wishes of the Council, would be suicidal.

Mr. IAN D. COLVIN suggested, as a possible way out of the difficulty, that five years should be made the limit.

Mr. R. BEWLEY was quite ready to admit that they were under the greatest obligations to the Chairman, but that, he considered, was not a valid reason for altering a carefully considered rule.

After further discussion :—

The CHAIRMAN said he was one of the small Committee who drew up the Rules and spent a good deal of time upon them, but he did not hesitate to say from an experience of three years that they required amendment. The position of Chairman was one which, for one thing, took up a good deal of time. This year, when the question was again raised, he said he certainly could not continue in the office unless the rule was altered. Whether he went on or not he considered the rule a bad one. He reminded the meeting that he had not yet been re-elected. He was entirely in the hands of the Council. He strongly recommended the meeting to alter the rule. It took a man three years' solid work to get to the bottom of matters, and he found they were really only at the beginning of much of the work they ought to take up.

The motion was carried by a large majority.

The appointment of Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., as auditors of the accounts for 1911, was confirmed and they were appointed auditors for the year 1912.

Lieut.-General Sir EDWARD T. H. HUTTON, K.C.M.G., C.B., moved a vote of thanks to the Hon. Treasurer and Hon. Corresponding Secretaries for their services during the past year. The Hon. Treasurer, for reasons of health and otherwise, had resigned the position he had held for twenty-four years, and he was sure the Institute would heartily thank him for his services. There were now about one hundred Hon. Corresponding Secretaries in all parts of the Empire. It was on these gentlemen and the duties they voluntarily performed that they relied largely for developing and increasing, not only the membership of the Institute, but above all, the great principles upon which the Institute was based.

The motion was agreed to.

On the motion of Mr. J. M. P. MUIRHEAD a vote of thanks was given to the Council, and to the Chairman for presiding.
